Plane Tossed By Storm Is Lost In California Zone

Pilot Reports Craft Turning Back and That Is Last Word Heard—Searching Posses Seek Victims

FRESNO, Calif., March 2.—Trapped by a sudden, violent storm, a Transcontinental and Western Airliner was believed today to have crashed with its nine occupants in the mountains east of Fresno.

The T. W. A. transport had not been heard from since 10:28 p.m. M.S.T., when Pilot John Graves reported he was flying blind and preparing to make an emergency landing at Fresno.

Bound from San Francisco to Los Angeles, the plane was caught in a sudden rain and wind storm as it flew over the Tehachapi mountains. Ice formed on the wings. Rain fell in torrents. Static interfered with radio.

During the next hour the plane seemingly wandered in the air all over San Joaquin valley, apparently trying to dodge the storm and keep on the radio beacon.

Graves reported he was preparing to drop down from 10,000 feet to land. Then silence.

A report that a plane was seen flying low through heavy rain in the high Sierra Nevada, 45 miles northeast of Fresno brought officials hurrying to Fresno from Los Angeles and San Francisco to direct a search on the ground.

Police, sheriff's officers, farmers and forest rangers were called into the hunt.

Planes were ready to help as soon as weather permitted.

This was the first mishap to mar the T. W. A. record on the Pacific coast since the line began service in the far west in 1928.

Besides Pilot Graves, the crew was composed of first officer C. W. Wallace and stewardess D. M. Wilson.

TWA said the six passengers and their destinations were: H. M. Salisbury, TWA first officer, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Walls, Chicago; V. Krause, Kansas City; Tracy Dirlan, Columbus, Ohio, Miss Mary Lou Dirlan, Columbus.

HUGE SUM TO BE SPENT ON BRITISH NAVY

Taxpayers Warned To Expect Bigger Bills—Total $7,030,000,000

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 2.—A government white paper issued tonight warns the British taxpayer to expect still bigger bills for armaments.

A year ago, outlining its great defence plan, the government estimates the total cost over a five-year period at £1,500,000,000 ($7,030,000,000).

PEAK YEAR

Tonight's white paper, reviewing the work done, frankly declares: "It must therefore be expected that even on the assumption that 1939, as now seems probable, will be the peak year for defence expenditure, the total expenditure on defence over the five years 1937-41 will exceed the sum of £1,500,000,000 mentioned in the white paper of February, 1937."

Defence expenditure by air, sea and land for the financial year 1938-39 is estimated at the total £343,250,000, with £8,500,000 in addition for air raid precautions. This exceeds the corresponding

STALIN INTIMATES SCORE OF OTHERS DOOMED TO DIE

MOSCOW, March 2.—Twenty-one broken Bolshevik leaders were doomed to the sorry fate of traitors against the Red regime today in a trial which ended as star defendant a one-time intimate of Joseph Stalin.

On trial with Kinolai Bucharin, former editor of the official Soviet newspaper and former friend of Stalin, were Lenin's successor as premier and five recent cabinet ministers. Also named in the conspiracy were three prominent Soviet doctors, several former diplomats and other ex-bigwigs of the U.S.S.R.

WAR FILM OF CHINA STATED CENSOR BARRED

VICTORIA, March 2.—The British Columbia board of censors has barred "China, 1937"—a newsreel depicting scenes of the Sino-Japanese conflict. At a meeting organized by the committee to obtain medical aid for China, Alfred Heathcote said it was intended to show the propaganda picture but that it had been barred from the province.

Censor Denies Barring Film

VANCOUVER, March 2.—John B. Hughes, chief censor of motion pictures in British Columbia, last night denied that a newsreel, "China, 1937," had been barred by the B. C. board of censors.

Commenting on a Victoria despatch which quoted Alfred Heathcote, chairman of a Chinese aid committee, as saying the newsreel had been banned, Mr. Hughes said: "The board has never even reviewed a newsreel of that name and the Victoria report is entirely erroneous."

Mr. Hughes said the only Chinese newsreel banned was a picture called "China Strikes Back."

Woman Hurt By Blast May Die

HIGH RIVER, Alta., March 2.—Victim of a gas explosion, Mrs. Buster Hanna of Little Chicago, Turner Valley oil town, was reported in critical condition in hospital here today.

FALLING SNOW HALTS ATTEMPT TO FLY MAILS

WINNIPEG, March 2.—Trans-Canada Air Lines officials today announced postponement of a scheduled experimental airmail flight from Winnipeg to Vancouver because of poor flying weather across the prairies and mountains.

VANCOUVER, March 2.—Snow falling at Lethbridge and over the Rocky mountains cancelled today's scheduled Trans-Canada Air Lines experiment flight from here to Lethbridge, and held grounded at Lethbridge a second plane which reached there from Winnipeg Tuesday.

It was the second successive day the eastbound flight from Vancouver was cancelled because of bad weather conditions. Yesterday Pilot Bruce Middleton returned to Vancouver when he struck heavy overcast near Hope, B.C., 100 miles east of here in the Fraser canyon.

At Lethbridge, airport officials said they expected the plane which flew from Winnipeg yesterday would remain grounded until weather cleared.

WHALES STILL REQUIRED FOR BISHOP GAITERS

CALGARY, March 2.—Whales are almost defunct in Arctic waters although there are still a few, for, remarked Bishop A. L. Fleming, the "Flying Bishop of the North," it still takes a whale bone for the back stay of a good bishop's gaiters.

Bishop Fleming, whose diocese stretches from Hershel Island to Baffin Land, is visiting Calgary for the first time. He spoke to service club members Tuesday.

As the case came up Miss Whitney said some mistake must have been made, and a settlement was effected.

$510,000,000 SET ASIDE FOR ANGLO AIR ARM

British Flying Force to Receive Huge Expenditure This Year

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 2.—The Royal Air Force will cost the British taxpayer the huge sum of £102,-000,000 ($510,000,000) during the coming financial year. This represents an increase of £20,000,-000 over last year's record total of $82,500,000.

A memorandum by Viscount Swinton, secretary for air, issued today illustrates how the cost of rearming in the air has over a period of five years soared by millions. Here are the figures:

1934, £17,761,000; 1935, £27,596,000; 1936, £30,700,100; 1937, £82,500,000; 1938, £102,720,000.

Of the air expenditure for 1937-38 approximately one-fourth was borrowed money. The remainder was raised from taxation. The estimates for 1938-39 include an interest charge of £780,000 on borrowed money.

KICK IS HEARD OVER VISIT OF RUMANIA KING

LONDON, March 2.—The House of Commons last night rejected by a vote of 208 to 104 a Labor resolution asking the government to explain the state visit King Carol of Rumania will make here beginning March 21.

Several opposition members declared their opposition to the visit during a debate on credits for the hospitality fund. James Maxton, Independent Labor party, stated an "important portion" of the House was against receiving the Rumanian monarch at this time.

King George announced last Oct. 26 he had invited King Carol to London for a state visit.

Alberta Solons Vote Pay Boost In Midst Acrimonious Debate

Featured by verbal clashes, charges and denials, acrimonious remarks and with three divisions called to clear the atmosphere, the legislature on Tuesday, by a vote of 36 to 17, adopted a resolution that "It is desirable that voluntary contributions on sessional indemnities be cancelled except to cabinet ministers." All members, therefore, will have their indemnities restored, except cabinet ministers.

A contentious matter on each occasion it has been introduced into the legislature since the inception of the province, the indemnities debate on this occasion fully lived up to its predecessors.

Personal charges were made on the floor and denials were given and on frequent occasions Mr. Speaker Peter Daw on called for order.

Idemnities always have been subjects for heated debate in the legislature and that of Tuesday, which was an offshoot of the budget debate, was one of the liveliest in the history of this, the eighth legislature of Alberta.

URGES FURTHER CUT

The debate was precipitated by the introduction, by A. E. MacLellan, S.C., Innisfail, which urged a further reduction beyond 10 per cent of the voluntary contribution made by members each year from 1932.

In 1932 when provincial financing became more difficult, the civil service took a cash cut, also on a graduated scale. The salaries, on paper, remained the same, but de-

Province to Build Winter Road for Northern Freight

The provincial government intends to complete a winter road from Grimshaw to the boundary of the North West Territories, to connect Edmonton and district with the northern mining areas, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, stated in the legislature on Tuesday in reply to a question by S. A. G. Barnes, S.C., Edmonton.

The minister said it was proposed to construct the road as soon as an agreement could be completed with the Dominion government for connection with a Northwest Territories road to Great Slave lake.

Replying to a question as to whether there was any money set aside in the present budget to complete this road, the minister replied that "Funds available in the general funds of the province may be used for that purpose under the agreement."

In reply to further questions, the minister said that he had received no applications from private interests to construct same but no cost to the province. He further stated that "I have discussed the matter with two or three interested parties and they agree there will be no use going further with it until the federal government agrees to pass some provision so far as the North West Territories is concerned."

In reply to a question as to the action contemplated in regard to the matter, the minister said that "we will continue negotiations with the federal government."

TORONTO, March 2. — The standing in the Macdonald's Brier tankard for the Canadian curling championship remained unchanged at the top today as Manitoba's leaders paced British Columbia and Alberta, the leading contenders, into the seventh round.

Scoring their sixth straight victory and their easiest so far, Ab Gowanlock's Manitobans trounced Quebec 14-4 while Alberta, 1937 champions, defeated Prince Edward Island 13-5 without causing any excitement.

B.C. PROVIDES THRILL

The thrills of the sixth round, in which other results were Saskatchewan 13, Northern Ontario 6, and New Brunswick 14, Nova Scotia 8, were provided by Bill Finlay's British Columbians who came from behind to defeat Ontario 11-8 after an extra end.

Ontario was leading 8-6 at the 12th end when Finlay, sports editor of the Vancouver Sun, sawed the button and left two British Columbia "biters" near the outside as the counting stones. The Vancouver

Mullen Declares Alberta Tied Up On Drouth Relief

Regulations under the Dominion-provincial agreement for care of the drouth area have "hog-tied" Alberta, Hon. D. B. Mullen, Alberta minister of agriculture, charged in the legislature on Tuesday as he read an exchange of telegrams between himself and the Dominion regarding the drouth situation.

The minister contended that the Dominion government had set aside $750,000 for care of relief in Dominion areas, of which between $500,000 and $600,000 had been spent and out of the $100,000 allocated to provincial relief areas about $60,000 had been spent.

He contended that "We have money here but it is impossible to use it."

PREVENTS USE

It was his contention that the regulations under the agreement prevented the use of the money so set aside to emergency situations, such as had developed in agricultural relief areas.

If the regulations were altered, he said, there would be no necessity of applying to the Dominion government for a loan.

In another telegram read in the house by Mr. Mullen—a wire from Hon. C. A. Dunning, Dominion minister of finance, to Hon. Solon E. Low, Alberta provincial treasurer — the Dominion minister stated that it would be difficult to make a loan under the agreement and the Dominion relief act, as had been requested by the province.

"Yet," declared Mr. Mullen, "a loan of $1,000,000 had been made to Saskatchewan and the agreements are said to be identical."

The whole matter of relief was brought up under Orders of the Day, when N. B James S.C., Acadia asked Mr. Mullen if he had a reply from Hon. James G. Gar-

TENDERS ARE ASKED FOR ON FEEDER LINES

Saskatchewan Connection With North Sought—Edmonton is Next

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 2.—Trans-Canada Airlines have called for tenders for feeder lines in the west connecting Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, North Battleford and Prince Albert with the main line.

The main line service west from Winnipeg to Vancouver went into operation Tuesday, so the next task before Trans-Canada is the linking up of the feeders in the west.

Later it is expected that tenders will be called for the Edmonton - Calgary - Lethbridge and South service, connecting with the United States line below the border. There is already in operation lines connecting Winnipeg and Vancouver with their respective points south.

Once the western service is in full swing attention will be given to the Eastern Canadian services with the Montreal-Toronto, Toronto-Windsor and Toronto north services. The Montreal-Windsor service will be a feeder line to the U. S. services at Detroit or Buffalo, while the others will be feeder services.

Returns tabled in the Commons by Hon. C. D. Howe indicate the all-Canadian nature of Trans-Canada and the position taken with respect to Canadian pilots, engineers and groundsmen. Three Canadian pilots have been unable to meet the rigid requirements of the service, but others are continuing their specialized training.

C.C.F. Member Seeks Light On Disallowances

OTTAWA, March 2.—Copies of petitions, correspondence and other documents relating to the Federal government's disallowance of Alberta legislation last August, and the reservation for the pleasure of the Governor-General of three subsequent measures passed by the Alberta legislature, are sought in a motion by M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar), of which notice was given in today's House of Commons votes and proceedings.

Mr. Coldwell asks for all correspondence and other documents relative to these transactions so far as the Dominion is concerned.

FAMILY FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN FARM HOME

Mounties Seeking To Unravel Mystery in Desolate District

MOSSBANK, Sask., March 2.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police today made it through snow drifts to reach the lonely Courval district, where three persons were reported victims of a shooting. Aboard a snowmobile, officers headed towards Courval, 20 miles southwest of Mossbank.

Victims of the shooting were announced by police as William Aitchison, his aged mother, and George, 22, a brother. They lived on a farm near Courval.

Police bound for the lonely farm are not expected to reach their destination for hours and probably will not return to Mossbank, about 60 miles southwest of Moose Jaw, until late tonight or tomorrow.

Authorities were unable to give any reason for the shooting. William Aitchison was regarded as an excellent farmer by friends. He visited Courval Tuesday afternoon to obtain groceries, returning to the farm late in the afternoon.

At the farm he talked pleasantly with his younger brothers, John and Lee, then bedded down his horses. Later, John and Lee went to the house where they found their 65-year-old bedridden mother dead.

In another room they found George's body on the floor. In a third room was William's body with a gun beside it. All three had been shot to death.

SENATOR BORAH ADMITS GOODWILL FOR BRITISH FOLK

TORONTO, March 2.—The Globe and Mail in a staff special from Washington today quotes Senator William E. Borah, Idaho Republican and an opponent of "foreign entanglements" as saying:

Senator Borah

"I have a profound respect for Great Britain in one regard, and that is in her shrewd ability to look after her own interests."

The Toronto paper's interviewer thought Borah's views on closer relations between Great Britain and the United States. The senator told him:

"I have nothing but goodwill toward the Empire, but I am certain that no lining up of democratic countries against those who are not will remedy the world situation in any way. In fact, I imagine that it would aggravate it considerably.

"It's all very well to talk about democracy and its protection but one must bear in mind that there are a few million British subjects in India who have no more liberty than the people of Italy, Germany, Russia or Japan.

"Don't mistake the fact that I would like to see this country on friendly terms with England—but I am not as anxious to see it on good terms with other countries as well, and that we could not be if we allowed any special favor."

KING CHEERED AS HE ENTERS BOXING ARENA

While making their way to ringside seats the royal brothers received a tremendous ovation from the crowd which burst spontaneously into "God Save the King."

EARL ATHLONE AND COUNTESS VISIT KING IBN

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia, March 2.—The Earl and Countess of Athlone, guests for four days of Royal entertainment ordered here by King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, left Tuesday in a motor for convoy across the desert. A six-day journey from the coast will take them to Riyad, mountainous capital of Saudi Arabia, where they will be guests of the Emir Saud, eldest son of the king.

Although the visit to Saudi Arabia, one of the most important Arab nations, is officially described as private, Great Britain's position in the Near East, affected particularly by the difficult problem of Palestine and the flood of Nazi propaganda circulated through Arabian countries, lent its significance.

Lord Athlone was a brother of Queen Mary, and a former governor-General of the Union of South Africa.

Britain's Point of View for Anglo-Italian Meetings Said Ready

MINISTERS IN CONSULTATION PREPARE PLAN

Suspicion in Mediterranean Activities Must be Dissipated

LONDON, March 2—Following consultation Tuesday among Prime Minister Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax and other senior cabinet ministers and the Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Italy, it was understood Britain's point of view to be expressed at Anglo-Italian meetings in Rome were ready for submission to the weekly cabinet session today.

Havas News Agency quoted informed circles as outlining Britain's point of view as follows:

1—Lord Perth will be advised to bear in mind not only the protection of British interests but also the security and freedom of British and French Mediterranean communication.

SPANISH QUESTION

2—The importance Britain attaches to the Spanish question, including the necessity for effective Italian observance of the principles of non-intervention during the civil war and for a pledge from Rome to respect permanently Spain's political and territorial integrity will be stressed.

3—Mr. Chamberlain's central thought is that above all else the culprits with which Italy and Britain view each other's Mediterranean activities must be dissipated. London therefore will ask Rome to promise not to fortify the islands of Leros and Rhodes, while Britain will agree to discontinue fortifying Cyprus.

TRADE INFORMATION

4—Britain will seek an arrangement for an exchange of information in the event either nation alters its fortification plans. It may in addition be willing to recommend inclusion on the Suez canal board of directors of at least one Italian. There are several vacancies.

5—Italy will be asked to reduce its armed troops in Libya, North Africa.

6—A pledge will be sought that Italy will not resume anti-British broadcasts from its Bari radio station which is in range that extends over the Near East.

BELIEVES READY

In connection with the propaganda question, Mr. Chamberlain told the House of Commons Tuesday he believed Italy already had stopped anti-British broadcasts.

He refused, however, to give a pledge that Britain would bind him not to negotiate until the propaganda was ended.

The Liberal party's executive council meanwhile prepared to meet today to examine the situation created by resignation of Anthony Eden as foreign secretary and Mr. Chamberlain's speech of last Tuesday which some liberals have criticized as an abandonment of the League of Nations as an instrument of British foreign policy.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the opposition Liberals in the house of commons, was expected to offer a resolution declaring the government had turned its back on its electoral promises of 1935.

HUGE SUM TO BE SPENT ON BRITISH NAVY

defence estimates for 1937-38 by £68,250,000.

"Present indications are," the white paper pursues, "that the defence program now in hand is likely to involve defence expenditure in 1939 in excess of the provision made in the estimates of 1938."

New warships to be laid down in 1938 are: two capital ships, one aircraft carrier, four large cruisers, three small cruisers, three submarines, three minelayers, two river gunboats, one destroyer depot ship, one submarine depot ship, one fleet air arm supply and repair ship.

The program also will include boom defence vessels, tugs, motor torpedo boats and miscellaneous small craft.

NAVY PROGRAM GROWTH

How naval programs have grown is shown in a comparison of warship tonnage under construction on January 1 of each of the following years mentioned: 1933, 138,348; 1936, 281,925; 1937, 375,746; 1938, 547,014.

During the year April, 1938, to March, 1939, some 60 new vessels of all classes are expected to be put into service, representing a total of more than 130,000 tons. Modernization of existing warships is continuing expeditiously. Work on one capital ship has been completed, three others are in hand for this purpose.

LARGE SCALE

As regards the army, the white paper explains, accumulation of war material continues on a large scale. In production of nearly all major articles of armament and equipment, for which new designs are being adopted, the stages of design and development are already ended or are within sight of completion.

"The present year should see warlike stores of modern pattern in growing use," the White paper goes on. "What is equally important is that potential means of maintaining and replacing such stores in time of war will keep pace with the actual issues."

Aircraft equipment is fully up to expectations. Deliveries are now proceeding satisfactorily. To ensure maximum production the number of types of aircraft in service are being progressively reduced.

PERSONNEL EXPANDED

Recruitment and training for all three services received special attention. Over five years naval personnel has expanded 28 per cent. The territorial army had a record recruiting year in 1937 when the strength in all ranks was increased by 17,690. To facilitate recruiting the regular army qualifications for enlistment have been revised and conditions in the service improved.

Notwithstanding the increase of numbers under training, experience shows new pilots are obtaining air force squadrons from flying training schools with a higher standard of flying efficiency than formerly.

Of the four new infantry battalions and two new army tank battalions contemplated in last year's white paper, two infantry battalions and one tank battalion have been formed. It is hoped to raise the other tank battalion shortly. The mobile division now in being as a formation will train as such this year.

STRATFORD, Ont., March 2.—Four young men, all Stratford residents, were killed today when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Canadian National Railways passenger train at a level crossing one mile west of here.

The dead are Milton Prankie, Jack Richards, Glen Campbell and Carl Allan.

According to the rules of the canal, any vessel grounded in the Suez canal for more than two days may be blasted out.

LEADERSHIP MAIN THEME TORY PARLEY

Representatives of All Provinces to Meet in Ottawa Friday

OTTAWA, March 2.—Arrangements for the meeting of Conservative party representatives from every province here Friday and Saturday were pushed ahead Tuesday when Conservative members of the House of Commons in caucus heard Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, party leader, outline arrangements already made.

Mr. Bennett said there would be another caucus Thursday and it is likely the list of those invited to attend the meeting will be given out after this caucus. Seven provinces have been invited to send three representatives each, the appointments being made by provincial organizations. Ontario and Quebec have been asked for nine representatives.

ALL MEMBERS

All the Conservative members in the House and Senate have been invited, in addition to three delegates from each province and many others prominent in the party. Former Speaker J. L. Bowman will be the only delegation from the prairies, and Senator A. D. McRae with the British Columbia contingent.

"The question of leadership will probably not come at the meeting Friday," said one Conservative member Tuesday. "Mr. Bennett is the leader, and as far as I know we all want him to continue. Why should there be any doubt."

Others in the Conservative opposition were not so sure Mr. Bennett wished to continue. In a caucus in January he is said to have dropped some words which several interpreted as indicating he was still awaiting his physician's verdict.

Red Sweater Signal Saves Life of Boy, 3

AIRDRIE, Alta., March 2—A red sweater worn by three-year-old Wayne Lorimer probably saved his life several afternoons ago, when he was caught on a bridge as a passenger train approached.

Mrs. Richard Wallace of Airdrie rescued the boy but would not have noticed him had it not been for the sweater.

Crouched on the inside railing of the bridge, afraid to move across the open tiles, Wayne watched the train speed toward him.

It whistled for the bridge crossing as Mrs. Wallace caught all classes of the sweater. Darting up the tracks she snatched up the youngster and just had time to make her way to safety as the train roared across the bridge.

"I'm all right," young Wayne told his mother when he was taken home. "Anyway, the train wasn't a very long one."

It was late Saturday when Mrs. Wallace made her daring rescue but it was not until today the townspeople learned of it.

JAPS WITHDRAW RESEARCH SHIPS FROM ALASKA

TOKYO, March 2—The ministry of agriculture and forestry announced Tuesday Japan was abandoning its plan to send "research ships" to Alaska to study salmon migration.

An expedition has been examining salmon movements on a three-year basis, the first ships going to Bristol Bay in 1936.

The announcement said friction was aroused in the United States when the ships returned to Alaskan waters in 1937. Therefore the 1938 phase of study would be abandoned.

Tax Collection System Popular

REGINA, March 2—Regina's civic government is finding its tax collection system efficient and popular with citizens. Tax prepayment coupons find a ready sale.

"People are beginning to realize the advantage of including their tax payments in their monthly budgets. Making provision each month for a part of the year's taxes is a much easier way of meeting them than waiting to the last minute," said L. G. Geernaert, tax collector.

Under a system believed unique in Canada, a civic official regularly interviews owners of business blocks and all rented buildings on which there are arrears of taxes, to promote tax collections.

Eastern Provinces Feel They're Given Dirty Deal

QUEBEC, March 2—Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Fisher said Tuesday in his budget speech before the Quebec legislature it was "quite evident" the federal government was attempting to balance its budget at Quebec's expense.

The Union Nationale government is firmly convinced that the federal government in Ottawa is not paying its fair share to our province," Fisher told the members. "They admit that unemployment is a national affair, and as a proof of this, they pay 100 per cent. of unemployment relief in the prairie provinces. It is quite evident that the federal government is attempting to balance its budget at the expense of the province of Quebec."

TORONTO, March 2—Leopold Macaulay, Conservative leader in the Ontario legislature, doesn't want the province to be "milked" in taxes for the rest of Canada.

"So far as I'm concerned," he said in the address debate Tuesday, "I'll back up the prime minister when he says he won't allow Ontario to be a milch cow for the Dominion of Canada." Premier Hepburn made such a statement recently.

"The trouble is the Hon. Jimmy Gardiner (Dominion agriculture minister) is so busy building up that Grit machine in Western Canada that there is nothing left for the Ontario ministers, like Mr. Rogers, to give to Ontario."

REFORM FIRST, RECOVERY NEXT, SAYS ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, March 2.—President Roosevelt, writing in the current Liberty magazine, makes it plain his administration does not propose to subordinate or delay efforts at reform in behalf of efforts at recovery.

Roosevelt

"Reform," he says in an article described in his introduction to a forthcoming history of his administration, "is just as important to permanent security in the spring of 1938 as it was in the spring of 1933."

His expression came at a time of widespread recovery-reform discussion in which many have urged that the emphasis be put on the former, particularly in view of the business recession.

TOOK EARLY LEAD

The Columbians had taken an early lead of 4-2 at the halfway mark but Hall finally found the range and effected the put in the eighth and ninth ends before Finlay got going again.

Victory for British Columbia tied with Alberta for second place with five wins and a loss each to Manitoba's six wins. Saskatchewan had no trouble with the trailing Quebec team, doing his heavy counting from the sixth to the 10th ends.

NO MATCH

Tied with Saskatchewan before the game with three wins and two losses each, northern Ontario could not match the westerners after coming from behind to tie the game 3-3 on the fourth end. From there Dr. M. I. Humphries' Prince Albert rink led to the finish with J. R. Walker of Timmins unable to match the westerners at their running game.

Cliff Manahan's Albertans never were troubled by F. R. McLaine's Prince Edward Islanders, who have yet to win a game. The Islanders counted only five singles. Registering their second victory, D. P. Connolly's New Brunswick rink pulled away from Nova Scotia on the last half.

FEATURE MATCH

The feature match of the seventh round, to be played this afternoon, was the British Columbia-Manitoba clash which might decide the result of the bonspiel. Victory for Gowanlock would place Manitoba on the championship unless he is upset against weaker opposition tomorrow.

MONKMAN PASS HIGHWAY BODY HOLDS MEETING

PEACE RIVER, March 2. — The Monkman Pass Highway Association carried its fight into Peace River Wednesday night when a large meeting greeted speakers in the Rose theatre and a substantial sum was accumulated as a result. The speakers are continuing along the north side for a series of meetings.

With only voluntary labor and voluntary contributions to help swing their work, the association has already gone a substantial distance in screening pictures showing work already done. It is the hope of the sponsors to have a two-way district car roll into Vancouver early this coming fall.

It was pointed out that the fact a car would negotiate the pass under its own power did not necessarily mean that there would be a highway ready for traffic but it was a means to an end which can be used when F. S. Wright and Murdock of Edmonton made the initial trip over what is now the Edmonton-Peace River highway.

The week of summer weather has made the highways safe and the seventh numerous cars from the country districts have been with their loads to attend the meeting which lasted upwards of two hours.

Graz authorities offered no resistance to the demonstration. Soldiers and gendarmes remained in their barracks.

Major Emil Fey, former Vienna chieftain of the Fascistic Heimwehr, returned to national prominence with a call for former Heimwehr members to join him in fighting "for the administration and for Austria."

The Heimwehr, once the private army of Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg, was disbanded in 1936.

ANOTHER FACTION

Another faction entered the pictures when it was announced thousands of peasants under Josef Reiter, former minister of agriculture, planned a rally to demonstrate their backing of Chancellor Kurt Von Schuschnigg.

The Fatherland Front—only legal political organization in Austria—broadcast appeals for pro-government demonstrations in 3,000 communities as a challenge to other forces, particularly Austria's Nazis.

CANADIAN CORPS WILL INCREASE ITS EXECUTIVE

With increased membership and other activities of the association adding to the responsibilities of officers, members of the Canadian Corps Association meeting on Tuesday night decided to increase the executive committee from 10 to 15 members. Executive members will be added representing the Corps Troops, and one from each Division of the Corps, and will be voted upon at the next meeting of the Association.

Over 600 members attended Tuesday night's meeting at the Masonic Temple, many former nursing sisters of the Canadian Army Medical Corps being among those present.

Reports from various committees indicated that the Canadian Corps Association is increasing membership rapidly. The year book of the organization, issued on Tuesday night, shows 1,084 members in Edmonton and 40 new members were added last night.

The Corps band, with "Red" Gibbons acting as bandmaster, made its initial appearance at Tuesday night's meeting and was enthusiastically applauded.

A feature of the meeting was a motion picture trip around the world, and as various foreign countries were shown members of the Association who were familiar with them gave a short descriptive talk. Captain C. E. Becker took the Mediterranean, Captain H. A. Dyde the Near East, Cecil Gould, Egypt, Capt. J. L. Irwin, India and Lt. Col. F. H. Stewart Dunn, China and Japan.

Government of Quebec Expects Budget Surplus

QUEBEC, March 2. — The Union Nationale government announced to the Quebec legislature Tuesday the expectation of a budget surplus for the 1938-39 fiscal year.

Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Fisher, in his second budget speech to the legislative assembly, estimated a surplus of $7,480,078 on ordinary account for the province's financial year ending June 30, 1939.

The treasurer calculated revenues during the year as $57,084,433 and ordinary expenditures as $49,554,354. Estimated extraordinary expenditure of $7,427,887 would bring the actual surplus down to $52,191.

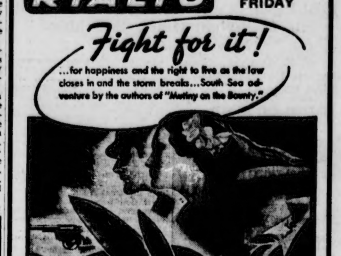

The budget, Fisher told the lower house, showed an improvement of about $15,000,000 in the finances of Quebec.

Case Too Strong

WINDSOR, Ont., March 2 — "I can't compete with evidence like that," said Joseph P. Brown, Windsor, in refusing to testify after two clerks, a floorwalker and a detective gave evidence that he had tried to steal a $15 bolt of goods. He was sentenced to 60 days.

Verbal Clashes Feature Debate On Indemnities

ductions were made and returned to the treasury.

In the same year, the members of the legislature took a 10 per cent reduction in indemnity. Up until that time their sessional indemnity was $2,000 and with 10 per cent cut put into effect, this was reduced to $1,800. Cabinet ministers took the 10 per cent cut in indemnity and a slash in salary.

In the same year, another reduction was made to restore the sessional indemnities to $2,000, while civil service salaries being restored on single men of $1,800 and under and married men of $2,000 and under.

$100 FOR MINISTERS

The budget also provides for restoring cabinet ministers' salaries to the extent of $100 a year.

The original MacLellan motion urged a further reduction beyond the cut in indemnities then in effect since 1932.

Rejecting the MacLellan motion, the house adopted an amendment, moved by J. H. Unger, K.C., Olds, which wiped out all the MacLellan motion preamble and declared itself in favor of restoring the voluntary reductions with the exception of those to cabinet ministers.

Mr. MacLellan's original motion, provided that the 10 per cent reduction in both indemnities and salaries be restored and a reduction of 25 per cent be made.

Then Mr. Ash moved his amendment and Hon. Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs moved an amendment to the amendment, which carried, and which altered the wording from "restored" to "cancelled."

Then, Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton, moved another amendment to the amendment, which brought about the first of the three divisions called for.

Mr. O'Connor's amendment urged that government "expenses be cut to balance the budget and that the reductions include 10 per cent off indemnities and 25 per cent off cabinet salaries."

MORRISH BOLTS

This amendment to the amendment was defeated by 44 to eight, with Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal, Edmonton, bolting his colleagues and voting against the O'Connor amendment.

In support of Mr. O'Connor were: E. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader; Mr. O'Connor; J. H. Tremblay, Liberal, Grouard; John J. Bowlen, Liberal, Calgary; Dr. Peter M. Campbell, Unity, Lethbridge; J. W. Hugill, K.C., Independent, Calgary; John Irwin, Conservative, Edmonton, and James Hansen, Independent, Taber.

Voting against the O'Connor amendment were all Social Credit members in the house at the time.

The second of the three divisions came when Mr. Speaker put the Ash amendment.

AGAINST ASH

The eight Social Credit members voting against the Ash amendment were Mr. MacLellan, Mrs. Edith Rogers, Hon. E. P. Ford, Dr. Donald Ivory; W. E. Cain, Bow Valley; Dr. J. L. Robinson, Medicine Hat; William Mansell, Wainwright; R. E. Blue, Ribstone, and A. W. Flamme, Cypress. In addition there were the following opposition members voting against the Ash amendment: Messrs. Gerald O'Connor, Tremblay, Bowlen, Hugill, Irwin, Hansen and Dr. Campbell and Dr. Morrish, who was back in the Liberal fold by this vote.

All those supporting the Ash amendment were Social Credit members.

The third division came on the vote to adopt the motion as amended and the division was exactly the same as in that of the Ash amendment.

Sharp exchanges occurred between Hon. MacLellan and Ash, when Mr. Ash accused Mr. MacLellan of telling a "deliberate untruth" and Mr. MacLellan demanded a withdrawal.

Mr. MacLellan also tangled with Fred Anderson, S.C., Calgary, over his attendance at meetings of the special legislative committee appointed to inquire into the whole subject of Workmen's Compensation.

OPENING DEBATE

In opening debate Mr. MacLellan spoke as follows:

"There is a matter to which my attention has been directed, namely, as to whether this motion was to apply to both indemnities and salaries of members. I did not think that there could be any misunderstanding in this regard. The motion clearly states that a reduction of twenty-five percentum shall apply to both, and I might add that it was and is my intention and desire that it should apply to all monies advanced to members of the house.

"I have been asked why I proposed this motion. My answer is, first, because I believed there was a danger of members as a . . . for an increased allowance and this belief arose from press reports that the members in caucus had decided on an increased allowance.

"No member discussed an increase in my room nor did I ever discuss the question with any member. I sincerely hope that the members will not attempt anything of the nature of an increase, when times are so hard and people so poor. Do you know, Mr. Speaker, that this province and this city are covered with 'poor houses'. That may sound a little strange, for I know they are called "unemployed hostels," but let us give things their proper names, and poor houses, not hostels, is the proper name, and the poor and humble people in city and country can be numbered by the thousands today.

"For me, I do not wish that indemnities and salaries be increased in view of honest poverty on every hand, but I do wish that both indemnities and salaries be decreased, and I also wish that the members, regardless of party, will agree with me in this respect, and on behalf of the poor.

"And then in caucus, the members will recall that I objected on several occasions to proposed increases. It will be recalled that I almost lost many friendships on that account, and it may be interesting to the members to know that I never did accept, even one advance on my indemnity, and when I got into hardship I cut down on expenses. Nor have I ever been in receipt of any of the strange three hundred millions that the lady member from Calgary so repeatedly mentioned, when she spoke in the country a year ago.

"I do not wish this government to discredit itself by making the kind of its own members. I know that the Legislature of B.C. voted itself an increase, but that is no reason why we should. Industries in B.C. are more varied, numerous and profitable than in Alberta. The cost of living is lower in B.C. The fishing industry helps the poor, fuel is easily obtainable in the major part of the coast province, free of charge. The weather is warmer and less clothing necessary, so we can not with propriety compare B.C. to Alberta in the matter of salaries to be paid.

"I would have no objections to an increased indemnity if the people of this province were in general, prosperous, but they are not. We should continue in our efforts to help them to a better state of affairs. We should bind ourselves to their cause, building that faith that they had in us in the days of hope, urging the weak to greater courage, and refusing at all times to lose ourselves until we have helped them.

KEEP THEM HOME

"I find that cabinet ministers can afford the time and money to come to my constituency without an invitation and without notifying me with the exception perhaps that in crediting me, while I have not the money to visit their constituencies, I wish to say that I am at home by reducing their incomes, especially when I think they are over-paid. The same may be truthfully said regarding some of the private members.

"What is the use of carrying on with high incomes while farmers are shooting their livestock, and people are unable to get enough to eat of proper food. Every member of this house knows that there is a great suffering in the countryside and squalor in the cities, and do you think Mr. Speaker that I am willing to add more taxes to the people's small incomes, in order to give me a bigger income? Do you think that I believe that there is or can be any justification in such a move.

"It has been said that my motion is not consistent with my ideas regarding unionism, but I am glad I am unionist I should advocate good wages, I always do, but Mr. Speaker I am better pleased to see the men to pay the well-to-do. If I did advocate such a plan that would not be a union action.

THANKS EDITOR

"Will someone tell the editor of the Edmonton Bulletin that I appreciate his kindness in referring to my resolution as a gesture of sympathy, and I thank him for it. He says the resolution would not, actually would not save much to the taxpayers if made effective. He is quite right. It would effect a saving of fifteen or twenty thousand is not much as millions come and go.

Members will see that the amount was not much, but Mr. Speaker if I had the nineteen thousand dollars to be saved in this resolution I could and would put it in construction of graveled roads in my constituency and right there is it would be much, and much needed. The Bulletin may think, besides Mr. Speaker this reduction would have the effect of making those savings which would provide for the construction of other roads, and services.

Now would not this money do more good handled in the way I have suggested, than to pay it out to members, which, as I have previously said, are fairly well paid?

TAKE WISE COURSE

"I do not wish to see this government make such a move, but rather I want it to take the wise course that common sense suggests, and I suggest that this resolution provides a wise method of dealing with indemnities and salaries of members. All that remains is to adopt it. In spite of the evidence to the contrary I sincerely hope we yet be adopted. Just because there is a budget introduced is no reason to be discouraged and conclude that this resolution will not be adopted. As the premier often says, "I believe in keeping on." I ask the members of this assembly to give it due consideration to remember the poverty, misery and rags on wretchedness on every hand, and give their supporters cause to be glad to support them.

"I am somewhat discouraged to see that provisions are already made in the estimates for salaries of members of the cabinet by $160 per year. This also, is not much, but in addition to what they already have as incomes, is far too much taken with the one hundred and seventy thousand dollars increase in the salaries of civil servants.

PUSHES MOTION

"Mr. Speaker, there is no use of further debating this resolution. I hold that it is plainly our duty to decrease our indemnities and salaries, and with this end in view it has afforded me great pleasure to move seconded by the honorable member from Ribstone, the motion on the order paper, standing in my name."

A. L. Blue, S.C., Ribstone, seconded the resolution.

Mr. Blue declared "I am sure the taxpayers of this country would be surprised that a Social Credit government elected to give economic security to the people are thinking first of economic security for themselves."

There was splendor in the house compared with conditions in some outlying areas. Men and women were making heroic efforts to keep taxes paid. "Some of the people here do not understand what is going on around them," he added. "Taxes, Mr. Speaker, have caused rebellion and bloodshed in the past and they are causing much suffering."

WERE BETRAYED

There were men in Edmonton who were now eating at relief kitchens who 10 years ago were paying taxes and there were many forced into acute poverty because they could not pay taxes. "They voted for governments and government policies but were betrayed year after year. They gave up in despair. They are the forgotten men of today and have no voice in government," Mr. Blue declared.

Besides reductions in indemnities, said Mr. Blue, there should be reduction in cabinet members' salaries. Was it right, he asked, that some civil servants should not be getting less than $130 a month while cabinet members received nearly $400 a month.

"It is getting to the point where people will soon stop caring whether taxes are paid and they will refuse," he added. "Then Fascism steps in and it needs a leader like Hitler to move him out." The resolution would show that people would not save much to the taxpayers if made effective. He is quite right. It would effect a saving of fifteen or twenty thousand is not much as millions come and go.

Acer of Medina, N.Y., Columbia University student, found temporarily dead at Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. were to be revealed by coed Rose McKenna, above, who spurned him because she loved his rival. Acer's body is believed to have lain in the frozen field several days before it was found.

Record of Debate That Stirred Fire Outline Given Here

One of the most exciting debates in the history of the legislature was that on the increases of members' indemnities and cabinet ministers' salaries, held on Tuesday.

THE MAIN RESOLUTION

Moved by A. E. McLellan (S.C.) Innisfail, seconded by A. L. Blue (S.C.) Ribstone.

Whereas the conditions of farmers and business owners are such that they find it impossible to cope with the unyielding stringencies of the economic depression, and as a result lose their property, and indigence is still prevalent; and

Whereas professional men, businessmen, artisan and laborer alike find that the cost of living is not commensurate with their incomes, due to interest rates, taxation and high cost of government, etc.; and

Whereas the Liberal and Conservative leaders and the Premier, have expressed a desire for practical economy in government by reducing the number of members in the Assembly, thereby reducing the total amount of the total of indemnities, though this is not easily achievable by any party;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the deduction of ten per centum from the indemnity of each member be discontinued, and a reduction of twenty-five per centum of salaries now paid members of the legislature be discontinued, and a reduction of twenty-five per centum be made effective; and

Be it further resolved that the provisions of this resolution respecting indemnities be made to apply to the present Session, and that the provisions of this resolution respecting salaries become effective as at the First day of June, 1938, and that these provisions both with respect to salaries and indemnities continue to be applicable until revoked.

THE AMENDMENT

Moved by H. J. Ash, S.C. Olds, seconded by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, S.C., Hand Hills, the following amendment:

By striking out all the words after "be it further resolved" and substituting "It is desirable that voluntary reductions in the sessional indemnities be restored except to cabinet ministers."

AMENDMENT TO THE AMENDMENT

Moved by Hon. Lucien Maynard, seconded by Hon. Solon Low that the words "cancelled" be substituted for "restored."

Upon the amendment to the amendment being carried without a division, the following substitute amendment was moved by Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton, seconded by E. L. Gray, Liberal, Edmonton.

"Be it resolved that a reduction in government expenditures be made sufficient to balance the budget, including a reduction of 10 per cent from the indemnity of each member and of 25 per cent from the salary of each cabinet minister."

O'CONNOR SUBSTITUTE

The vote being taken, Mr. O'Connor's substitute amendment to the amendment was defeated by a vote of 44 to 8, "Social Credit", reinforced by Dr. W. W. Morrish, Liberal, Edmonton, voting against the combined opposition.

Mr. Ash's amendment was carried by a vote of 36 to 17. The vote was recorded as follows:

Six of the private bills were for the establishment of Hutterian mutual corporations.

TARIFF RAISE EFFECT LIGHT CANADA TRADE

New Zealand Complains Balance Against Her Between Dominions

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 2—New Zealand's tariff increases, designed to protect their manufacturers for increased trade and shorter hours, will only affect about a million dollars worth of Canada's sales to the younger dominion.

Under the trade treaty between Canada and New Zealand, Canada's sales have been over $14,689,322, while her purchases have been only $7,579,052.

COSTS MAY RISE

New Zealand complained that the balance of trade was strongly against her. She also feared that, under the new Socialist Labor program the cost of manufacture in New Zealand would be increased and foreign and empire competition would seriously affect the new government's reforms.

Shorter hours and increased pay were major planks in the new government's platform. The manufacturers complained that if they were compelled to thus increase labor costs, they should have more adequate protection.

Although the Canada-New Zealand treaty will still in force New Zealand asked for the right to increase tariffs; such increases to be based on the increased costs due to the shorter hours and higher pay.

AGREES TO PLAN

Hon. W. D. Euler carried out negotiations with the government of New Zealand and ultimately recommended that New Zealand's request be granted. He sent a letter to the New Zealand government agreeing to the proposal.

The Canada-New Zealand treaty was renewed. After all the balance o. trade was hugely in Canada's favor and Canada was still applying the dump to New Zealand butter. That restriction still applies.

The increased tariffs in New Zealand do not apply to Canada alone but to other countries so that "Canadian goods will be on the same," says Mr. Euler. "So far as actual sales to Canada is concerned the tariffs apply to about $240,000 New Zealand currency (the New Zealand pound is only worth $4 in Canadian money).

STRONG PROTEST

"Australia made a strong protest to New Zealand against the increased tariffs, claiming that Great Britain an advantage and might be considered a violation of the principle that there should not be discrimination as between Empire countries."

The Minister points out that New Zealand's tariff increases so far as Canada is concerned may only be based on the high costs due to shorter hours and higher pay. The Canada-New Zealand treaty is not substantially affected.

T.C.A. STOCK ALL HELD BY C.N. RAILWAY

Transport Minister Howe Gives Information During Bill Reading

OTTAWA, March 2.—Capital stock of Trans-Canada Air Lines is still all owned by the Canadian National Railways, Hon. C. D. Howe, transport minister, told the House of Commons Tuesday as his bill to amend the Trans-Canada Air Lines Act received third reading.

The act authorizes sale of shares in the company to other companies or individuals interested in aviation but so far no sales have been made. Mr. Howe said several other aviation companies had approached the government about the purchase of stock but none had come forward with a complete cash offer.

The bill will authorize the company to acquire Canada's share in the proposed trans-Atlantic airline and to extend its operations outside Canada.

OPERATE SERVICE

Mr. Howe said the trans-Atlantic company would be formed to operate the service across the ocean after Imperial Airways had demonstrated the feasibility of the service and completed the pioneering work.

Under an agreement between the three countries involved, the United Kingdom or a company named by it will subscribe 50 per cent of the stock, Ireland, 24½ per cent and Canada 24½ per cent. Trans-Canada Air Lines will hold Canada's interest.

Test flights on the trans-Atlantic route have demonstrated that there were no insurmountable difficulties, said Mr. Howe. The planes were in full daily use by radio nearly all the time and were able to obtain bearings and weather information. They cruised in a considerable extent on ships from their radio service.

CAA'S AUDIO

It was now proposed, however, to erect radio facilities on both sides of the Atlantic and to install radio beacons. For the greater part of the flight across the ocean the planes would be on the beam.

Montreal would be the regular terminus of the trans-Atlantic line with Dublin as the alternative terminus in case of bad weather over the St. Lawrence district, said Mr. Howe. Both flights stopped at Shediac trans-Canada planes would pick passengers up there and take them on to Montreal.

Although the Atlantic service is moving forward, Mr. Howe thought it was not desirable for action regarding a trans-Pacific air service. Honorable members would recall that C. D. Howe asked if it would not be well to include in the bill power to authorize an interest in a trans-Pacific line.

DELAY ON PACIFIC

Mr. Howe said much more information was required on the Pacific route before launching a Pacific service could be considered.

"There are opportunity flights the Trans-Canada route crosses the state of Maine between Montreal and Moncton. Should passengers now operating an international route between Seattle and Vancouver and two or three trans-border services may develop later. These connections are the reason for the amendment authorizing the company to operate outside Canada.

Mr. Howe said Mr. Green the company had one of the finest schools for pilots and groundsmen in the continent, at Winnipeg, where men who will operate the airline are being trained.

He agreed with Mr. Green there was a need for some advanced training in aviation in Canada for other than flying employment and said the government was considering what might be done. There was a possibility of establishing a youth could receive in technical schools and the degree of education needed in air transport work.

The minister declared he had no intention of doing away with or tie up with appointments to the staff of Trans-Canada Air Lines. He had been most competent, in charge and proposed to give them a free hand.

Moose Buried Alive In Snow

FIELD, B.C., March 2—A moose lost its life in a snow slide which roared down from Mount Burgess, Emerald Field, after a vain attempt to escape. Knocked down by the first impact of snow and rocks, the animal gallied for feet and started to run but was caught by a heavier fall and buried alive.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour into your bowels one and two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food just decays in the bowels. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Poisonous poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and like everything you do.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills. They get the bile flowing freely. Then you "feel like a million" and "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they never gripe. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills (of colored but have no calomel or mercury in them). Only 25c at all druggists. Refuse substitutes!

OPERATION OF HAIL BOARD IS SAID UNLIKELY

Government Failure to Enact Promised Legislation Given as Cause

CALGARY, March 2.—Unless part of a guarantee of the provincial government is implemented it is unlikely the Hail Insurance Board of Alberta will operate in 1938, according to the annual report issued here Tuesday.

The board suspended operations last year when it was refused credit by its bankers.

GAVE UNDERTAKING

Failure of the Alberta government to enact promised legislation to guarantee adequate steps would be taken to place the board in a sound financial position to continue operations and the necessary legislation would be introduced at the next session.

NOT YET TAKEN

The necessary action has not yet been taken. The board was unable to improve its financial position and further credit was refused."

It was indicated the board could not operate next year unless the government paid the bank $50,000 to apply on a debt of $200,000 which had been guaranteed by the government.

NANAIMO, B.C., March 2. — J. Hardcastle is willing to work for his relief but he would rather use a paint brush than a pick and shovel. WAKE UP LIKE A CAVE MAN

Feel Full of Life—No More Tired, Dull, Heavy Mornings

Keep your liver healthy and you'll feel great every morning. Don't put off feeling "rotten" your liver is out of order. Your liver clears the blood of poisons, generates the bile necessary to digest food from the waste. Supplies energy to muscles, increases appetite. Take a dose of this laxative, helps stomach, kidneys and intestines to work properly. A mere bowel movement isn't enough. Prime Minister Replies To Questions In House Of Commons

OTTAWA, March 2.—The Canadian government has been kept informed of official statements by Prime Minister Chamberlain and Anthony Eden on British foreign policy, but has not offered any opinion with respect to such statements, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons Tuesday.

At the opening of Tuesday's session M. J. Coldwell, (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar) asked the following question:

WHAT OPINIONS

"In view of recent statements by the Prime Minister of Great Britain regarding the League of Nations, collective security and Italy, has the government of Canada been kept fully informed of the British foreign policy indicated by such statements, and if so, what opinions, if any, has the government expressed on behalf of the Canadian people in relation to any or all of these matters?"

MAKES REPLY

Mr. King made the following reply:

"The Canadian government has been furnished with full summaries of recent statements made in the British House of Commons by the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and the former secretary of state for foreign affairs.

"In addition it has received a brief report of a conversation with a representative of a foreign government. These communications, as is usually the case, are in the nature of information rather than consultation. The Canadian government has not offered any opinion on the statements in question."

STIFFER PENALTIES

What is known as the Brunelle bill has passed the House of Commons. The purpose is to strengthen the wage-earner's right to a free Sunday. The Lord's Day Act already provides fines of $50 to $250 for employers authorizing or directing employees to work on Sunday, at such jobs as plant repairs. The author of the amending bill said it was apparent some employers found it profitable to pay the fines and continue violating the Act.

The new bill is aimed directly at company officers, directors and superintendents, making these liable to jail terms of from one to six months when they order or authorize contravention of the Act. Mr. Brunelle, member for Champlain and father of the bill, said Quebec companies were apparently chief offenders, but the measure will apply throughout the Dominion. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, accepted the bill and said the Government had intended bringing in similar legislation, based on representations from labor organizations.

THE RAILWAYS

The railways had poor going in January. Both the transcontinentals report their revenues down and their expenses up, as compared with January of last year. Recession from the business "recession" in the United States was accountable in part. But the main factor no doubt was the short crop last summer in the prairie provinces.

There was only about a third the usual amount of wheat to haul to the seaboards. And because there was less wheat to haul out, there was less return freight to bring back. The railways were hit going and coming. Instead of paying loads both ways, there was a scarcity of loads in either direction.

Canada's railway "problem" is the problem of getting production back to the volume of the late 'twenties. Then the railways were busy, trains more than paid their way, and there was a balance of earnings left after running expenses had been met.

Without a return to the conditions of ample traffic to handle, the only ways by which it has been suggested the railways could better their financial showing would be to run fewer trains, fire employees, abandon branch lines, tear up trackage. But in proportion as the railways did these things they would kill the chance for more production and the larger traffic they so badly need.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

The House of Commons has been talking about our absentee millionaires, which it does with considerable and growing feeling at each recurring session. Not that their absence is necessarily fatal to the progress and wellbeing of the country, but because, being absent, they don't pay income taxes.

Maybe this is a sordid way of looking at the matter. Perhaps the Commoners should think of the men rather than their money, and envy the Bahamas their presence and not their ducats. Still, tax-money being needed, and poorer men having to pay what they don't pay, it is natural their absence should be thought deplorable in the financial as well as the social sense. Not to say more deplorable for financial than for other reasons.

Of one thing the exiles may be sure. They will not be forgotten, either by parliament or public. Every time the income tax returns have to be made out, thousands of their fellow-countrymen think of them, basking on the sunny beaches beside the tropic sea. Maybe there is some envy mixed with these remembrances; a feeling that going to Nassau is not a half-bad idea if one can take a fortune with him and thus escape having to share up with the Government.

Whether or no, the interest of the public in the distinguished colony of expatriates grows keener. In fact what the members of parliament say about them isn't a "patch" to what the hoi polloi think about them. One of these days this growing public sentiment may translate itself into legislative action. When it does there may be a good round capital tax levied on the millions which the millionaire absentees leave behind them and from which they draw dividends to spend in Nassau.

THE MORATORIUM

That the moratorium would be continued would have been a foregone conclusion even if the intention had not been announced in advance. The conditions which led to a stay of collection proceedings in the first place have not disappeared to any degree sufficient to make a further stay unnecessary.

Debtors in the dry belt are in as hopeless a position as ever. Elsewhere there has been improvement, but only partial. Anything resembling a general readjustment of debts to the level of present incomes is not in sight. Pending something or other of the kind, to lift the moratorium would likely precipitate an avalanche of litigation—most of it to no good purpose, since in the majority of cases the outstanding claims cannot be met.

The moratorium is being changed from a periodic to a statutory basis. There are to be no collection proceedings until March of next year. That is, until the legislature meets again, when further steps may be taken as then required. Only debts incurred before July 1st, 1936, are affected. Obligations undertaken since that date may be collected by orders of the courts. The immunity covers only contract debts. Store bills and other unsecured accounts are collectable as usual. There is a stay of proceedings in the case of a debt from one individual to another, nor in respect to taxes, payments due to insurance companies, nor mortgages relating to earnings from mining or other development of natural resources.

It was stated recently that debtors protected by the moratorium were only in a minority of cases taking full advantage of the postponement granted them; that more than 90 per cent were in fact paying something voluntarily. If so, the injury done to creditors generally has been exaggerated; most debtors would have paid what they could pay in any case.

Perhaps the certain knowledge that no proceedings can be taken for a year at least will incline creditors to more willingness to compromise. That would seem to be likely where there is little or no hope that debts can be collected in full sometime in the dim and distant future. There is no profit in continuing to jot down figures in an over-due interest account which have no real relation to the ultimate prospect of payment.

Foreign Minister Delbos says "France loves peace, but not peace at any price". And still less, it may be supposed, would France like to pay the price and not get the peace. Assuming the deal with Mussolini to be made, who is going to guarantee delivery of the goods?

Sir Josiah Stamp says if Russia can find huge gold deposits, mines them without regard to cost, and ships the metal abroad, the world price will go down. There are enough "ifs" in the way that Canadian mining companies need not start pulling the men out of the mines yet a while.

No other city in Canada is as busy as Edmonton extending its air port facilities under pressure of immediate requirements and clearly defined prospective needs. That speaks for itself as to the city's present and future position as an aviation centre.

The Conservative candidate won the by-election in Argenteuil. The presence of two Liberal candidates may have helped him, but the tradition of Sir George Perley probably helped him more. Since the beginning of the century the constituency has returned a Conservative to parliament at every general election save two. The present result only means that "The Dutch have taken Holland" again.

In a Pennsylvania town men were employed deepening a cellar. One of them turned up a $20 gold piece. That naturally speeded up the operations and when they laid off the cellar was two feet deeper than the owner of the house wanted it to be, while the diggers had unearthed coins to the value of $60. Now they are going to law to see who gets the money. Odds on the lawyers.

CHURCHILL'S RETURN

That supprising figure, the Right Honorable and right changeable Winston Churchill has jumped back into the foreground of British politics. It has been reported, and not denied, that he will shortly enter the cabinet. He is said to have been slated for a position a year ago, but he chose that time to sound his warning to the British people on the dangers of German rearmament. Everything he said was perfectly true, and, indeed, it needed to be said, but it was hardly the talk for a responsible minister.—Montreal Gazette.

"NEW AND FEARFUL"

It is certain that neither side in a modern war can choose its objectives so exactly as to ensure a reasonable safety to civilian life. A bomber may set out to destroy a factory on the edge of a populous town, but in the tumult of the attack, with shells bursting round him and defending planes rising in the air, it is more than likely that the pilot will either miss his aim or cast his bombs at random and take the lives of harmless citizens. But though it is hard to hit military objectives, everything goes to show that when the rebels began the present wave of bombing they had no intention of even trying. Last summer and autumn raids on Barcelona and Valencia were frequent, but unprejudiced correspondents pointed out that docks and warehouses were the ends of attack. The few numbers killed in the last week show that the rebel aim has changed, and that they have hopes of destroying the morale of a loyal people by a new and fearful means.—Manchester Guardian.

THE MAN, NOT THE PARTY

One lesson which may be learned from the rise of dictatorships is that elaborate schemes for the proportional representation of minorities are not of the slightest use in preventing revolutionary movements of this kind. In the constitution of the "Weimar Republic" which controlled the affairs of Germany after the Great War provision was made for the representation of groups of all sorts and sizes in the Reichstag, but the only result was to increase the muddle and confusion. The situation in Italy was similar. Both Mussolini and Hitler entered political life as leaders of small groups which, under their guidance, became powerful parties. Dictators have also refused to be bound by the desires of a parliamentary majority, as, for instance, Marshal Pilsudsky in Poland or Kemal Ataturk in Turkey. The British parliamentary system, by enabling political parties to obtain large majorities through the "swing of the pendulum," ensures strong government, which is lacking in other countries through the absence of this condition. Where governments are weak, depending on chance combinations of small groups, the would-be dictator has an opportunity presented to him which he is usually quick to seize. —Belfast Telegraph.

JAPAN'S ECONOMIC PLANS

The military purposes of Japanese imperialism always predominate over the economic; in fact most of the economic activities can be explained by reference to the ideal of military supremacy. Japan is terrified of sanctions. Political control of certain sources of raw material is therefore, in this sense, essential to her national security. And her use of military control is further encouraged by the fact that she lacks the economic and financial power to compete with England and the U.S.A. in China; she counts on the closing of the door and breaking up Chinese unity. Although there is some basis in fact, therefore, for the Japanese assertion that the Chinese were not developing North China, that cotton production, for example, could not be developed because there were no roads and other ways to market it, that adequate steps were not being taken to improve cotton staples or prevent adulteration of the product, the determination of the Japanese to remedy these things cannot be explained in terms of "economic exploitation." But the economic plans of the Japanese must not be underestimated, even if they are designed with military ends in view.—The Statesman and Nation (London).

NOTHING NEW

There seems to be a considerable stir in Montreal about Communism.

One would almost think that Premier Duplessis had unearthed something new from the sudden energy he is displaying in trying to stamp it out.

There is nothing particularly new in Communism.

The Wall Street Journal copied the following rhyme from the "Corn Law Rhymester" of England.

What is a Communist? One who hath yearnings
For equal division of unequal earnings,
Idler or burgler, or both, he is willing
To fork out his copper and pocket your shilling.

Since this poetical definition appeared in England in 1620 we might inform Mr. Duplessis that a Communist is not a new specimen.

Nor does it appear that Communists have changed much since 1620.

We might warn M. Duplessis in the midst of his enthusiastic "stamping out" that since Huey Long was shot he is more or less worshipped in Louisiana.

All history proves that if you want to give a man importance all you have to do is to persecute him or shoot him.

He then becomes a martyr and the job is done.

For our own part we would be just as enthusiastic in purging the country of the taint of Fascism as the taint of Communism.—Toronto Telegram.

THE "IN-BETWEEN" PRISON

If and when the Royal Commission on Penal Reform under the presidency of Judge Archambault makes its report, it should contain an enormous amount of information. The Commission has been travelling about over this and other continents for a couple of years, holding innumerable hearings, visiting innumerable prisons and examining systems and experts galore. Much of the evidence that has been laid before it in the hearings that were open to the public was of great—and frequently disturbing—interest, notably in the case of the mutiny and rioting in the "model" prison at Guelph, Ontario.

The Canadian Welfare Council has submitted a recommendation to the Commission which seems a sensible one. Briefly, what the Council wants is a series of prisons that would fit in between provincial jails and federally controlled penitentiaries. It suggests the building of three such institutions in eastern, central and western Canada. They would be primarily intended for the incarceration of first, or at least young, offenders, on the very wise principle of the segregation of these from the recidivist. What the Council wants is, of course, a trial of the Borstal idea in this country; and if the inquiries into the outbreaks that have occurred in the different federal penitentiaries right across Canada have shown anything it is the need of some such guiding principle in our prisons.—Montreal Daily Star.

HIGHEST WATERFALL

A United States flyer says he has discovered in Venezuela a waterfall at least three times as high as the highest fall heretofore reported. Altimeter readings taken by the aviator showed a sheer drop of between 5,000 and 6,000 feet in the water, which then continued for another thousand feet in swift torrent before becoming a stream again. The highest waterfall previously discovered is that of Kukenaam in British Guiana, adjacent to Venezuela, which has a drop of 2,000 feet. And the next highest is one 1,904 feet in New Zealand. Victoria Falls in South Africa, 343 feet high, and Niagara Falls, 167 feet high, are impressive because of the volume of water which goes over them rather than for their height.—Brandon Sun.

Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

While many people are familiar with acute appendicitis, they are not so well informed regarding chronic appendicitis, which is a fairly common disorder.

Patients who have developed this trouble may remain unaware of the true nature of their discomfort. This is partly because of the fact that frequently the chief symtom of chronic appendicitis will not point to inflammation of the appendix but will appear to be coming from the stomach.

A more careful examination may in fact be necessary before it will become a certainty that a diseased appendix is the source of the patient's distress.

As a general rule, the patient with chronic appendicitis will remember having had an acute attack some time before, which subsided, being followed by periods of comparatively mild distress, during which periods a chronic appendicitis becomes troublesome. Many doctors prefer to call chronic appendicitis a sub-acute inflammation but my investigations have made me believe that there may exist a chronic involvement which may be correctly referred to as chronic appendicitis.

The symptoms vary considerably, although the most pronounced symptoms are likely to point to the stomach as the offender. The patient may describe a sense of discomfort after meals, and this discomfort become enough to be called a true stomach pain. The patient is distressed by stomach and intestinal gas, and by nausea. Any pain which is present is likely to appear in the stomach region and not so likely to localize in the region of the appendix itself. Occasionally, the pain may appear to be distributed over the entire abdomen.

However, when a careful examination is made, it will be found that deep pressure over the appendix in the lower right hand side will demonstrate a localized tenderness, restricted to that one particular spot. The tenderness elicited by deep pressure is a valuable sign in these cases.

Almost invariably the patient will be bothered by a persistent constipation and will probably be worrying more about that than about the condition of the appendix.

The most definite way to arrive at a correct diagnosis is to take X-ray pictures of the colon and to study the appendix under the fluoroscope. When the appendix is located with the fluoroscope, it will be discovered that the point of greatest tenderness centres around the appendix. If the examining doctor uses the fingers to move the appendix, the point of greatest tenderness will likewise be moved to correspond with the changed position of the appendix.

Once in a while a patient will state that he experiences a mild pain in the lower right side when he is tired, or strenuous exercise. However, in mild cases, the patient generally is able to carry on his ordinary activity.

Spastic colitis or mucous colitis may produce symptoms easily confused with those of chronic appendicitis; however, the distress is due to colitis it is more likely to be general in nature, being spread over a large part of the colon. Usually in colitis the tenderness will not be restricted to just the appendix a 'ne.

The conservative treatment of chronic appendicitis depends upon diet and better bowel hygiene. The patient will do well to omit those foods which cause intestinal irritation and it is very important that the colon be cleansed regularly, either by the use of some of the lubricators or bulk-producers if necessary. Laxatives should be avoided as they may do considerable harm.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION—Van M. asks: "Could you please give me the name of one vegetable rich in vitamin E? Also the names of some other foods containing this substance?"

ANSWER—Vitamin E appears to be necessary for human reproduction. It is thought that fresh lettuce is a good vegetable source. Other sources are: Wheat germ, beef muscle, egg yolk, seeds, fat, and green leaves.

QUESTION—R. F. asks: "Of what food value are mushrooms? Can I cook them without adding fat? Do you approve of steak and mushfooms?"

ANSWER—Mushrooms have a low calorie value but are relished by many who use them as a means of adding variety to the flavor of the food. In addition mushrooms to steak is excellent. The mushrooms are easily digested if prepared by boiling in a small amount of water. Butter may be added, if desired, after the cooking.

QUESTION—E. B. inquires: "Is it all right for second cousins to marry—or is the relationship too close?"

ANSWER—Providing both are in good health, I believe such a marriage should be permitted.

LONDON, Eng. — (By Mail) — For years there have been murmurings that the Church of England drew some of its income from slum tenements and from houses of dubious reputation morally.

The church owns an enormous amount of residential property in London. This is administered by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, a body appointed by Act of Parliament in 1831 to administer the estates of the church.

Now so long as one has a vague idea that the Ecclesiastical Commissioners are a board of high and dry functionaries it is possible to imagine them paying more attention to getting in revenue from the property under their control than acting as beneficient landlords.

One learns that a block of 520 flats "definitely built with dark and dirty staircases, smelling offensively, and altogether squalid," is church property and one blames the un-

A Day in Canadian History

By FRED WILLIAMS

General Isaac Brock was a great soldier, as proven by his swift capture of Detroit in 1812 and by his death in front of the foe in his glorious but rather unwise charge up Queenston Heights; but he was also a very strict disciplinarian. This was illustrated by a tragic incident at Quebec on this date in 1804. Brock arrived at Quebec in 1802 with his regiment, the 49th, which he had commanded in several engagements in Europe. A majority of the men were well tried, but there were a number of recruits, while some few of the older men were war-weary and wanted a taste of civilian life. Part of the 49th was sent to garrison Fort George. All was well for 18 months. Then Brock, who had remained at Quebec, was told that there was a conspiracy among some of the garrison at Fort George to mutiny, murder their officers, destroy the fort and cross to the United States.

He sent officers to Niagara, who nipped the plot in the bud and took the ringleaders in irons, to Quebec. They were tried by court martial, found guilty and sentenced to death. And on March 2, 1804, Quebec saw a spectacle happily rare in the annals of the British army. Seven were paraded before the whole garrison and shot. They were Sergeant Thomas Clark, Corporal Sgt. John Rock, Corporal James Carroll, and Privates John Shaghrue and John Fitzpatrick of the 49th, and Privates Thomas Ashcroft and John Higginson, of the 41st.

Eleven others, nine of the 49th and two of the 6th Regiment, were found guilty in a lesser degree. They were condemned to fire the shots which killed their comrades, to public whipping before the whole garrison and the populace, and then ordered to be sent back to England, thence to be transported to Botany Bay for life.

On March 1, 1914, it was announced that Hon. F. D. Monk had resigned the public works portfolio in the Borden cabinet because he could not support the policy of conscription to the British navy. The surprising thing was that he had not resigned before because he had been one of the most active leaders of the Nationalist crusade against Sir Wilfrid Laurier's naval policy and observers at Ottawa knew from the first that as soon as the naval issue came up again Monk would quit. He had much influence in Quebec province, although not an orator like other leaders, but when he wanted he could arouse an audience to a n enthusiasm. He was a combination of Irish and French, his father an Irish judge in Montreal, his mother a daughter of the Hon. M. Bellarich, seigneur of St. Denis, who had to flee before the Patriots of 1837. F. D. Monk was a good Tory on all questions but that of defence. In that he was a close ally of Henri Bourassa.

FUR FARMING

Editor Bulletin: The following resolution was passed at the annual banquet of the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association:

"In view of the fact that there has been numerous letters in the public press during the last few weeks from correspondents at Red Deer, Cold Lake, Lloydminster and Lac La Biche, criticizing the government and the game branch in establishing an experimental fur farm at Oliver. Particularly criticizing Mr. William Colpitts, the superintendent at the farm, and fur farm advisor.

"On checking up at the game branch, we find that only one of these critics is a registered fur farmer in the province of Alberta. We, therefore, be it resolved by the members of the Alberta Fur Breeders' Association that we go on record endorsing the action of the minister of agriculture in establishing the experimental fur farm at Oliver; and also having appointed a manager who has had such a long experience, and who has the goodwill of the combined fur industry.

"We believe that the membership of this association combined with the membership of the Alberta Silver Fox Breeders' Association of Calgary, and the Widewater Fur Breeders' Association at Slave Lake, represents about 80 per cent of the total capital investment in fur farms in Alberta; and these organizations have been trying for years to get something done along these lines. It is only since the Hon. D. B. Mullen took control in the agricultural branch that there has been any progress made. We, therefore, wish to go on record, at this meeting, of extending our wholehearted co-operation and thanks to the government and to the minister of agriculture, and also to the game commissioner, Mr. W. J. Wallace, for having taken this forward step in the development of the fur industry. We believe that as years to come, the increase from the animals that are being donated by the fur farmers will be sufficient to finance the operations at the experimental fur farm, without being any extra burden on the taxpayers of Alberta, or the fur farmers as a whole."

He: "I dunno."

She: "I thought so."

Two men were talking together in the public library. Said one: "Time does not pass me gone. I wonder where it's gone to."

The other, who knew something of Carlyle's style, answered cynically: "It's gone to two dollars and fifty cents."

The moths have most expensive tastes.
They dine on furs and velvet waists
And gnaw our evening trousers,
Though cotton does not please them
They dote on woollens—they are such Extravagant carousers.

By choice they make their cosy nests,
In moth-proof drawers and cedar chests,
They thrive on naphtha vapour;
They lay their eggs in Paisley shawls
They play croquet with camphor balls
On sheets of tarry paper.

If anything that flies can beat
A moth in finding just the meat
It wants, I haven't met it
So if "the moth desires to star,"
They'd better wrap the stay in tar,
And then the moth will get it.

House of Commons Asked to Consider High Cost Farm Implements

REPORT MADE LAST SESSION BY COMMITTEE

No Justification For Increased Prices in Machinery is Found

OTTAWA, March 2—The house of commons is being asked to "consider" the report made to its last session by the agriculture committee on the "Causes underlying the high prices of farm implements." A resolution moving consideration of the report stands in the name of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in Tuesday's house votes and proceedings.

The committee, under the chairmanship of Fred Johnston (Lib. Lake Centre), sat for two sessions, its hearings coinciding with a similar inquiry conducted by the United States congress.

The committee reported the farm implement companies guaranteed "Little effective competition in the matter of prices," although they did compete in sales. However, no justification was found for increased prices of agricultural machinery "At the present time."

NEEDS GROWING

The committee estimated during the depression a "backlog" of requirements approximating $300,000,000 had accumulated. This would have to be satisfied by the implement companies in the next few years, together with normal annual requirements estimated at $51,000,000.

Profits made by the companies on invested capital had been "substantial." The committee's report said. Where this was not so it was due to reasons other than the price level at which farm machinery had been sold in Canada.

Increased freight rates had contributed to price boosts and, having regard to the fact that the three prairie provinces absorbed at least two-thirds of all farm implements sold in Canada, the committee recommended the rate structure "should receive immediate attention with a view to restoring lower rates."

NO INCOME TAX

It was brought out departmental regulations resulted directly and indirectly in the retention in the United States of profits made by American companies operating in Canada. No Canadian income tax was paid on these profits.

While prices on implements imported by Canadian companies from the United States had dropped as a result of recent tariff reductions, said the report, American companies had not lowered prices generally on importations other than those effected by the price reductions of the Canadian companies. This indicated, according to the committee, lack of free price competition in the industry.

STANDARDIZE PARTS

Standardization of implement parts to a greater extent, removal of tariff imposts on materials entering into the manufacture of farm machinery and reduction of credit costs to the farmer were other recommendations.

The committee found that on replacement parts the companies made "excessive profits," that the price increases in January, 1936, were not justified and that distribution costs were unnecessarily high.

Makes Nothing

William A. Ruggles has the most unusual job of making "nothing" and making it better than almost anybody in the business. He is the engineer who for 25 years has been making the highest possible vacuum in test tubes in General Electric's research laboratory at Schenectady, N.Y. His job is to leave "nothing" in the tube; but this is impossible. After he has made the best possible exhaust, an ordinary 60-watt incandescent bulb would still contain no less than 300,000,000,000 molecules of various gases. It is impossible to get a better vacuum than that, right now.

Canadian National Has 21,759 Miles of Lines

OTTAWA, March 2. — The Canadian National Railways owns or leases 21,759.17 miles of railway line in Canada, as well as 25.33 miles of Central Vermont Railways in Quebec, according to a return tabled by Hon. C. D. Howe, transport minister, in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Ontario is provided with the largest trackage with 5,800.52 miles of C.N.R. line. With 4,452.22 miles, Saskatchewan comes second while Quebec is third with 2,904.16 miles.

Mileage in the other provinces follows: Manitoba 2,471.72; Alberta 3,097.34; British Columbia 1,373.24; New Brunswick 1,258.53; Nova Scotia 995.53 and Prince Edward Island 286.05.

Since the beginning of 1925 the C.N.R. has constructed 1,572.35 miles of railway in Canada. This was distributed as follows: Saskatchewan 883.69 miles; Alberta 241.67; Manitoba 172.62; British Columbia 131.29; Quebec 100.53; Prince Edward Island 9.09; Nova Scotia 4.22 and Ontario 3.32. None has been built in New Brunswick.

HUGILL AGAIN ENDS DEBATE, LEGISLATURE

Former Attorney-General Scores Government For Refunding Plan

Former Attorney General of Alberta, John W. Hugill, K.C., independent member of the legislature for Calgary, on Tuesday enjoyed the distinction of adjourning the budget debate for the second day in succession.

On Monday, Mr. Hugill had spoken for nearly two hours and was still unfinished when the house rose until Tuesday. In the early part of Tuesday afternoon the house was occupied with other business and the budget debate was not resumed until just before closing time.

Then, for a few minutes, before adjournment, Mr. Hugill resumed the debate.

NO REFUNDING PLAN

He levelled criticisms at the government for failure to include in the budget a refunding plan.

He also read extracts from the Bank of Canada investigators' report into Alberta finances.

On his criticisms being levelled at the government for the slashing of interest rates—following his reading of the Bank of Canada report—Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer, rose and asked if it was not a fact that Mr. Hugill was a director of a mining company that brought about the reduction of interest rates and whether, as a provincial cabinet minister, he had resigned his seat in the cabinet.

DEFERS ANSWER

Mr. Hugill declined to answer, stating that he would answer questions at the conclusion of his address.

While Mr. Hugill was speaking many members on the government side of the house left their seats. At one time there were only 17 in the house to the right of Mr. Speaker, but the full cabinet representation remained to listen.

Hero of Madrid Siege Reported In Moscow

MOSCOW, March 2.—Rumors circulated here Tuesday that General Emilio Kleber, hero of the early days of the siege of Madrid, has been in Moscow conferring with Chinese embassy officials, and has since left for China.

General Kleber, an Austrian by birth, but reported to have been educated in Toronto and to have served with the Canadian expeditionary force in the Great War, dropped from sight in the Spanish civil war some months ago and was last reported living in retirement in an isolated Spanish country house.

Kleber commanded the international column in Madrid in the winter of 1936-37, when insurgents pressed to the edge of the city and its fall appeared imminent. The successful defence was ascribed largely to his skillful tactics and organization.

Alleged Shriner Clipper Is Sent Up On Negligence Trial

CALGARY, March 2. — George Whiteley, alleged to be the driver of a car which mowed down 11 members of a Shriners' parade Jan. 17, was committed for trial here Tuesday.

In the higher court he will be charged with "causing bodily harm by negligence."

Four of the paraders were seriously injured including J. A. Werner and Jack Barclay of Edmonton.

OTTAWA, March 2.—The Lacroix bill empowering the board of railway commissioners to review telephone zone rates was adopted by the government and pushed through all stages in the House of Commons last night. A similar bill died in committee stage last session.

FIRE RAZES HIGH RIVER FLOUR MILL

HIGH RIVER, Alta., March 2.—Fire, in the centre of the town, destroyed a flour mill, owned by A. E. Johnson, causing a property loss of $10,000 here Tuesday.

The flames were confined to the two-storey mill and adjacent buildings, including the Oxford hotel and a row of grain elevators, escaped damage.

Aided by citizens, Johnson and his son saved five tons of flour from the burning mill, hauling it out before the flames reached the storage room.

An overheated exhaust pipe of a gasoline motor operating a grinder with a wooden wall was held responsible for the fire.

Industry Act Control Moved New Department

By THOS. WAYLING

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, March 2—The administration and operation of the Trades and Industries act has been transferred to the ministry of trade and commerce. The actual investigations under the act are carried by a board under Mr. Justice Sedgewick, who is chairman of the tariff board.

Many clauses of the original act have been found to be ultra vires, but after the act has been overhauled Judge Sedgewick will carry on under the rest of it, co-operating with the department of trade and commerce. Matters of unfair competition, establishment of trade standards and so forth, will come under the act.

JOY, heroine, hostess in smart Maine tearoom.
MARIE HARROW, Joy's fiance; rising young designer.

CHAPTER VI

THURSDAY: Never know much of what's going on in the world . . . morning newspapers reach here in the afternoon; but we're always too busy with the big afternoon rush to glance at them. We depend on Cal for local news. Give him a look at a person or a place and he'll tell you a bookful about them. He's a queer old chap, his face hard and weathered like the granite rocks that crop out of the tree-clad hillsides. Yet, with all his shrewdness and native wit he's not much on deduction . . . afraid he wouldn't make a good detective though I'm sure there's work for one here.

Must answer Gail's letter, though how? This is what she wrote: "Your sweetie called today. You're a fine one to go away without giving me a line on him. I didn't know if I should give your address, or tell him you were out of town for the summer. Do let me know how to handle such a situation if one like this ever comes up again. He seemed disappointed when all I said was, 'She's just sleeping out.' But you've done something to stop Angela's pursuit, but I doubt it. She was here this afternoon with some of her friends. Heard her say, 'Roger has a date with me tonight . . . I'll ask him about designing the booths for our Fair.' Wake up and slip one over that selfish piece, or she'll walk off with your sweetie."

"You think Dick tonight . . . girls seem to consider him my boy friend though Tess managed to get a couple of dances with him. Dick tells me he's fallen hard for me. . . . Miss Pegler's discovered Roger and I have parted . . . glad the girls up here know nothing about that episode. If I cared for Dick I'd beware of Tess. She said to me this afternoon:

"Well, you're in luck. Dick raved about you all the time he was dancing with me . . . don't think that was very complimentary—at least to me."

"Oh, Tess, you don't need to take any stock in what he says."

"I don't! I'm not so sure about that. I heard Miss Pegler telling Mrs. Fenwick that she was so glad you were here . . . that Dick was an old friend of yours and she hoped he'd have a chance to see quite a bit of you."

"Can't say I'm so keen."

"Great Caesar, Joy, don't you know Dick's the richest man you may ever meet . . . at least he will be when he gets his father's inheritance . . . and then his aunt's. If he were paying any attention to me you bet it wouldn't take me a minute to make up my mind about him. If I thought I'd a chance with him . . . well, of course I like Jimmy, but he'll never be rich."

The bathroom door opened and soon we were in the throes of the lunch hour. After seating most of our regulars, Dick and Miss Pegler being at their usual table I went forward to meet two men, "Just casual customers," I decided, for I saw they had some suitcases in their car so I seated them at a table for two, where their presence would not be objectionable to our swanky guests.

"Nice place you've got here," one of the men said after they had ordered. "Is this a summer resort?"

"Oh, no, the tearoom caters mostly to private individuals who have their summer cottages along the lake."

"Then you don't take any boarders here?" the other man questioned.

"Oh, no! Nothing like that. There is a resort a little further up the lake, if you're looking for a place to stay."

"There is?" questioned the first man.

"Yes, Serene Shores is the name. Of course I've never been there and don't know much about it, except that it has a wonderful location and a fine beach."

"Well, we might look at that," the men agreed as I crossed to Miss Pegler's table.

I couldn't quite make out what sort of men they were. Usually I can place all my customers almost as I look at them, for when you're a hostess you have a chance to study human nature. Well, it is not likely they'll ever cross my path again, even if they decide to play at Serene Shores for a bit. Probably they were just businessmen on holiday.

"Say, Cal," I exclaimed as I went into the old man's workshop in the afternoon, "what can you tell me about Serene Shores?"

"You're not thinking of going there are you?"

"Of course not."

"Well, that's all right, for I've never seen such a lot of tough guys as they've got there."

"Tough guys?"

"Yes! No one seems to know who the man is that owns it. . . . In fact some of the folks around here are suspicious it ain't what it seems."

"Oh, goodness! I had a couple of customers today and they wanted to slay in the neighborhood, I suggested Serene Shores."

"Well, you don't have to worry about that. If they're not the kind to fit into that place they'll find another. I reckon old Seth Bradshaw, who owned the land, didn't know what kind of folks he was selling to when that place was put up."

Friday: Walked across to Miss Pegler's cottage this afternoon (she invited me yesterday). Though she calls it a 'cottage' it looks like a mansion with its huge granite fireplaces, oriental scatter rugs, hand-woven draperies. She talked a lot about Dick . . . told me it was she who made him give up his job in New York.

"You know, my dear, he was working far too hard."

"He did look rather worn out when they arrived," I agreed, though I can't imagine that work alone could give such a strange expression to any one's face. To my way of thinking Dick had a hunted look in the eyes, when he came up here.

"Poor boy, he really needs the influence of a girl like yourself. I'm sure my association with you this summer should have a steadying influence on Dick . . . besides he's really fond of you. Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to have you marry him."

"Oh, Miss Pegler," I exclaimed, I can hardly see myself in the role of a mother and wife . . . guess going with Roger spoiled me . . . he's so different from Dick. "Strong, dependable" are the adjectives I'd use for the man I still love.

Our talk drifted to other things, to the charity dance that is being sponsored by Miss Pegler and other rich women in the neighborhood.

"I'm going to see if Mrs. Fenwick will let us have the teahouse for it this season. She really does and the girls generally give their services in handing around refreshments," Miss Pegler said, as I left.

When I told Tess about this she was quite excited . . . said she'd swells from far and near would be at it and for that one night a waitress is as good as a millionaire!

Made another interesting discovery when I was at Miss Pegler's. She's the executor who must give her okay to the girl Dick marries . . . still why should I be the backbone for a shaking reed? Dick walked back to the teahouse with me . . . seems to improve on acquaintance . . . told him about Peter's adventure at the haunted house.

"Jigger here?" he gasped, and his face turned gray.

BAD VISIBILITY CLEARS DRIVER DEATH BLAME

LETHBRIDGE, March 2—Alex Johnston, North Lethbridge grocer and chairman of the city police commission, was exonerated by a coroner's jury Tuesday from all blame in connection with the death of Mrs. Martha Oiquist on a city street last Sunday evening one she had been struck by Johnston's car.

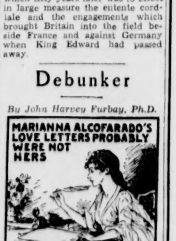

The verdict returned by the jury at the inquest conducted by Coroner Dr. J. S. Wray said "Death was apparently about due to injuries received in being struck by an auto. We consider that poor visibility due to atmospheric conditions was responsible for the accident and exonerate the driver of the car from all blame."

Bickering Ends

OTTAWA, March 2.—Controversy by correspondence between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario over the Long Lac to Lake Superior water diversion plan of the Ontario government is expected to end temporarily at least, with an acknowledgement sent by the prime minister to Mr. Hepburn's letter of Feb. 25, tabled in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

The five now-famous love letters which were supposed to have been written by Marianna Alcoforado to the Marquis de Chamilly (Noel Bouton, later Marshall of France) in 1668 are now believed by leading literary men to have been written by a man and never to have originated with Marianna at all. The famous letters have been translated into many languages of the world, and more than a hundred editions of them have been published.

known and unidentified Ecclesiastical Commissioners.

The Ecclesiastical Commissioners, however, turn out to be the two archbishops, the whole bench of forty bishops, three deans, the Lord Chancellor and certain other members of the government: the Lord Chief Justice, and other persons of eminence, none of them likely to tolerate the abuses rumor ascribes to them in their collective capacity.

Nor, as a matter of fact, do they, as was demonstrated when the whole question was raised in the Church Assembly.

A LAY delegate moved a resolution then demanding that the church should cease to take income from defective properties. He spoke of the block of flats mentioned above and further declared that agents of white slavers had been buying leases of houses to use for their business.

This gave Sir George Middleton, the principal executive officer of the commissioners an opportunity to refute a number of allegations of the same sort in circulation among even members of the church and prove conclusively, that, as stated in the report of a recent investigator, the Commissioners were not only good landlords, but exceptionally good.

The church owned in some degree or other no less than 50,000 houses in London, he said. It would be almost a miracle if there was not here and there a single house at least, or a number of houses, which did not lend themselves to criticism.

The Commissioners had spent five million dollars in the last three or four years on the improvement of property thus providing homes for the poor, and this without any hope of economic return.

Much property, however, was leasehold and in the case of bad property the Commissioners tried to induce the leaseholders to surrender. But the Commissioners had no power to vary the terms of leases some of which had been running for more than 120 years.

When the vote was taken the Archbishop of Canterbury announced after a show of hands that there was one for the motion, "and the Church Assembly against."

A committee was appointed to discover some means by which the Commissioners could deal with bad leasehold property but, as has been pointed out, it is not likely that anything can be done without special legislation.

THE King and Queen will not take the Princesses with them when they visit Paris next summer. Announcement of this decision by King is following the precedent set in his own boyhood. King George V and Queen Mary did not take any of their children with them when they went to France just before the war.

Queen Victoria, however, when she and the Prince Consort visited the Emperor Napoleon and the Empress Eugenie in 1854 took with her the Princess Royal and the future King Edward VII, then 14 and 13 years of age respectively.

The youngsters had such a good time that the Empress begged the Empress to let him and his sister stay on after their parents had returned England. The Empress diplomatically doubted whether his "dear mamma" would be able to do without him.

"Don't you believe it," he replied. "There are six of us at home and they don't want us at all."

The visit had results in after years. It was then that the lifelong affection of the Prince for France and the French began, and affection which fifty years later was to effect in large measure the entente cordiale and the engagements which Prince Albert Victor made to reside France and against Germany when King Edward had passed away.

Pages Of Shining Service Compose 1937 Year-Book Of Presbyterian W. M. S.

YEAR divided into months, months into days, and days into fleeting hours, has left something of worth and noteworthy achievement on the pages of the minute book of the Edmonton Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church for the year 1937, and as delegates and visitors met during the hours of a one-day conference of the Presbyterial in the lecture room of First Church on Tuesday, some

BEYOND the East the sunrist; beyond the West the sea;
And East and West the wander-thirst that will not let me be.
The old ships draw to home again, the young ships sail away;
And come I may, but go I must, and if men ask you why,
You may put the blame on the Stars and the Sun and the white road and the sky.

Colorful little lap and folk dances, precise little drills and routines that have become for students of the Provincial Normal School for Girls just another part of their enjoyable life in the school formed the theme of the annual physical training and dancing exhibition given in Christ Church parish hall on Wednesday afternoon. Barber Smith, director of music at the school, Miss Margaret Hord, physical training director, Miss Peggy Aitken, dancing instructor and Miss Joan Keen.

Liberals Are Host At Gay Affair

Still another opportunity to meet socially the men who represent them in the Alberta provincial legislature was accorded Edmonton Liberals when at a gay party of the Women's Liberal Association in the Masonic Temple on Tuesday evening, Mr. E. L. Gray leader of the Liberal party with the four Liberal members, Mr. J. J. Bowlen, Dr. Walter Morrish, Mr. Gerald O'Connor and Mr. J. H. Tremblay were present.

Presence of Mr. Robert C. Marshall, candidate for the East Edmonton seat in the Alberta House in the forthcoming by-election and his wife, Mrs. Marshall, added much to the pleasure of the evening.

Cards and dancing were arranged during the evening and later refreshments were served.

Vera Spengler Is Bride Of Walter Flynn

One of the prettiest of early springtime weddings will take place on Wednesday afternoon when before an altar banked with pink and white blossoms Miss Vera H. Spengler, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Spengler of Edmonton, formerly of Lethbridge, and Walter Golden Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Flynn of Calahoo, exchanged wedding vows.

Rev. Harold Stibbards officiated at the ceremony which was performed at two o'clock.

LACE-OVER-SATIN

Gowned delightfully in white lace-over-satin fashioned tunic style and worn with a floor length veil of silk net held in position by a coronet of orange blossoms, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Attending her sister as maid of honor, Miss Olinda (Lindy) Spengler chose a floor length model in heavy satin in a flattering rose shade. White carnations were her flowers.

Mr. William Flynn supported his brother as best man and ushering the guests to their pews were Mr. Alvin Sinclair, Mr. Ed. Sinclair and Mr. Harry Flynn.

More than 75 intimate friends were present at a charming reception arranged later at the home of the bride's parents at 11306 89 street.

Receiving the guests, Mrs. Spengler wore a smart floor length gown of ebony velvet, worn with a corsage of white carnations. Mr. Angelo gowned in silk moire, and Mrs. Flynn when supper was served.

Later in the evening the guests motored out to Calahoo where a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Flynn was arranged in the community hall. The bride's cousins in Dixonville where she went, the speaker-brought vividly to the ears of her listeners, the sadness of the work still to be done.

The evening session climaxed the session's work with a display of miniature reviews of the work of the society during the year were given. Encouraging reports were mentioned, the reports revealed the ever expanding work of the society.

Child Artists Show Amazing Versatility

Choosing as their themes a range of subjects as wide and varied as life itself and depicting them with fine discrimination, the children who attend Saturday morning classes in painting and modelling at the Edmonton Museum of Arts and whose work is now on display, have shown such initiative and ability that it almost seems as if life passes in review on the canvases.

The pictures of the children's work will be on exhibition in Arts Museum gallery in the civic block, the remaining part of this week and next week.

Figures predominate in the pictures, a woman getting supper ready, a little girl sweeping off the steps, a woman and her daughter knitting Hula dancers on a sandy beach, a woodcutter plying his trade and yet again Russian-scientists and fliers on the snowy wastes of the northland. In each case the essence of the scene has been caught, and tiny details included in the picture, have added a vivid reality.

PORTRAITURE

Profiles in portrait pictures have been especially well done by the kiddies. Facial expressions, whether thoughtful or happy, have been finely distinguished and the delicate coloring of hair and eyes has been retained in each case.

Skating, skiing, and tobogganing were all vividly pictured on one long canvas, and the figures, colorfully garbed in the greens, reds, of blues of slacks and toques carried out through all the manoeuvres, which one cannot help but see in watching a winter sport. Rolling off a toboggan or bob sleigh, tumbling headfirst on skis and even one lad breaking through a danger sign on the ice . . . the picture showed all the action of a winter day spent in the out-of-doors.

TRUE TO LIFE

But even inanimate pictures were very true to life—a tall skyscraper at night, very black, only the windows emitting a yellow light; the street of a small town, where every shop from the delicatessen to the blacksmith is in the one block.

Children's love of color can also be seen in the pictures for they have used it with a gay abandon, yet in so doing have made their pictures bright and cheery, certainly not losing any of the reality.

University Women's Club Dinner Guests Hear Clever Lecture On "Gift Horses And Their Mouths"

SUGAR-COATING a serious and informative lecture on relations between Canada and the United States with the bantering humor which has made him so popular as an after-dinner speaker, Dean W. H. Alexander of the University of Alberta, was the guest of honor when he addressed members of the Women's University Club at their annual dinner-meeting in the Macdonald hotel on Tuesday evening, on the subject "Gift Horses and their Mouths."

Citing the old proverb which tells us that when we receive horses as gifts we should not examine their mouths too critically with a view to counting the teeth and deciding how much of a gift we have got and whether it is according to our desserts, Dean Alexander enumerated a few of the gift horses Canada receives from her neighbor the United States.

IMPORTANT QUESTION

Problem of Canada-United States relations is the single most important Canadian question in the field of external relations, the speaker emphasized. Economics and statistics show that the United States must be the dominating power in North America, and naturally for countries like Canada and Mexico relations with the United States were a first consideration.

Public librarians' art gifts and endowments especially in the western provinces, aid for college libraries, educational surveys without cost to Canadians, aid for medical teaching, aid for pension funds, fellowships and scholarships open to Canadian students on equal terms with Americans, collaboration in scores of fields, material aid in case of disaster—these gift horses are very cheerfully received from the United States. Are their mouths examined" Specifically perhaps they are not, but in general we are with more or less secrecy criticized because they come from across the border.

UNGRACIOUS ATTITUDE

This is not a very gracious attitude, and frequently indicates a high percentage of hypocrisy on the part of Canadians. American aid and American money is welcomed for the material advantages it brings; the donors are bitterly and unfairly criticized. This does not reflect much credit upon our breadth of mind, said Dean Alexander.

He then invited his hearers to consider the facts in the relationship of the countries, pointing out our unescapable geographical propinquity; our financed obligations to the United States for investments, being some four billions of dollars; our trade both with and from the United States; our immense profit on tourist trade, estimated for the last year at $175,000,000; our close interlocking with American higher education; our international societies and fraternities; our identity of language and, substantially, of culture.

Whether one liked it or not, there was also the question of the defence of both the American continent against possible foes. In view of all these indisputable facts, to say blandly that American generosity mentioned already, surely the gift horses might be accepted in a spirit more genuine gratitude than is unfortunately often the case.

FRIENDSHIP IS FIRST TEST

After briefly discussing social and political relations for the Canadian attitudes often displayed, the speaker suggested that Canada's first test of genuine international spirit lay in maintaining the closest and friendliest relations with our nearest neighbor.

It was idle, he concluded, to talk about fostering internationality except with Spaniards and Chinese, for example, unless we could demonstrate the fullest measure of internationalism with our nearest neighbor and our best friend—at least the neighbor and friend whom we are in the best position to understand.

Two delightful vocal solos, G. Branscombe's "The Morning Wind" and Arthur Sullivan's "Where Is Another Sweet?" sung by Mrs. Charles A. Brine, and violin selections by Miss Dina Heckleman were other pleasing features of the program. Miss Grace Studholme was the accompanist.

Arrangements for the dinner were in the hands of Mrs. Ross Grant.

AT THE HEAD TABLE

Mrs. Clifford Butterworth presided, at the affair, others at the head table including Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Alexander, Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr, Mrs. W. J Melrose, Miss Mabel Patrick, Mrs. Hector Kennedy, Mrs. Charles A. Brine, Mrs. H. C. Newland, Dr. Donalda J. Dickie, Miss Grace Studholme, Miss Dina Heckleman, Miss Marian Gimby, Miss Olive Thomson, Miss Ruth Shipley, Miss Maimie Simpson, Miss Lorene Maguire.

Other guests included Mrs. George J. Bryan, Miss Marjorie F. Watt, Mrs. James Kelso, Mrs. Fred Morrison, Mrs. Maurice Mee, Mrs. Patrick Symons, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. O. Chase, Mrs. R. W. Dinning, Mrs. A. K. Ottewell, Mrs. R. F. Shaner, Mrs. A. W. Henry.

Contest 'Finds' To Perform At C.S.A. Dance

Miss Audrey Skett, Miss Gabriel Herviaux and Bob English, artists who have been acclaimed enthusiastically when they appeared on several programs of the Edmonton Bulletin's Search for Talent Contest, will perform at the attractive party of the Civil Service Association, branch No. 2, planned for Friday evening in the Macdonald hotel. Another interesting feature of the affair will be the old time music that will be played during the intermission periods.

Miss P. Dilna, Mr. F. Tomicki, Pledge Vows

Charmingly frocked in lustrous white satin, the skirt of her frock flaring in graceful lines and floral buds of satin forming a dainty yoke at the bodice, Miss Pearl Dilna made a lovely bride one evening recently when she was united in marriage by Mr. Frederick Tomicki.

Inset with panels of lace, her frock also had a row of tiny buttons down the back and the long length veil of silky net was caught in a halo of orange blossoms. In her arms she carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Officiating at the ceremony, which was solemnized in the Greek Catholic church, were Rev. Father M. H. Honas and Rev. Father Dopko.

BRIDE'S ATTENDANTS

The bride given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. M. Fedkow, was attended by Miss Pearl Lebid and Miss Sabina Bakuska, who acted as bridesmaids, and two little flower girls, the Misses Marie Bawyluchko and Olga Losa.

Mr. Louis Zanzig and Mr. Earl Zanzig supported the bridegroom.

Miss Bakuska chose as her bridesmaid frock a floor length gown of silk crepe in a lovely shade of powder blue. The skirt flared slightly and she wore a silky bolero jacket. In her hair she wore a pink ribbon and a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

Yellow silk crepe fashioned the becoming frock worn by Miss Lebid. The sleeves of her frock were puffed and she wore pink carnations.

The two little flower girls were dainty frocks of pink and white organdy, made with short ruffled skirts and cap sleeves. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Shasta Peacock room when guests present included Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Read, Mr. A. Kwas, Mr. and Mrs. C. Krokosh, Mrs. G. Zanzig, Mr. and Mrs. Dyshak.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawchukevitch, Mr. and Mrs. M. Loza, Mr. and Mrs. Bodnarzuk, Mrs. H. Wawryluchko, Mrs. J. Wilgosh, Mr. D. Bobowski, Mr. Paul Arebchuk, Mr. William Hodnefield.

MILK—is an exception to the general rule

Usually, the better things cost more, and, perhaps this is why the generous use of milk is not more upon, in many homes, as an extravagance . . . it's just taken for granted.

The modern homemaker, however, has discovered that the use of more fresh milk in meals is a positive economy in the family food budget. Just try it. You'll be amazed at how much farther all other foods go, and how you'll need of the expensive, low-nutrition foods. Your meals will be more wholesome, nourishing and more digestible, too.

Splendid Cough Remedy Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick relief from a distressing cough, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll say it's your favorite cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine in concentrated form, well known for its prompt action on throat membranes.

Put the Pinex in a 16 ounce bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of cough syrup, at once, and you get four times as much cough medicine for your money. It tastes fine and never spoils.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is splendid. You can feel it penetrate into the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Women Need At Least One Night Of Beauty

By ALICIA HART

She may not be able to go to a beauty shop for more than a weekly shampoo and fingerwave, but the average woman generally can arrange to have a beauty-evening at home once a week.

This may mean a stricter budgeting of time or more self-discipline about leisure hours. It may even mean a bit of reorganization of the household schedule. But a beauty-evening is worth any one of these, or all of them. It will pay huge dividends in youthfulness, a pleasanter disposition, a brighter outlook.

Simply set aside one night for yourself. Resolve not to answer the doorbell or the telephone—not more than once, anyway. Begin as soon as the dinner dishes are out of the way and the children, if any, have been put to bed or are busy with their homework.

Start by giving your hair one hundred upward strokes with a clean brush. Now tie a towel or strip of gauze around your head, carefully clean face and neck, then cover them with your richest cream.

You do limbering and stretching and perhaps one or two reducing exercises next. It's the end of the day, and you're tired, so you do these for only seven or eight minutes. You won't believe it until you try it, but exercises will relax your tired body, calm your frazzled nerves. Do them slowly, quietly, stimulating circulation gradually, taking the kinks out of aching muscles in unhurried manner.

Now for a bath. And let is be a tub bath, warm and soapy, with bath salts thrown in for good measure if you happen to have some. Scrub your shoulders, back, feet, knees and elbows with a brush. Then, unless sitting in the water seems to be too enervating, relax there in the tub for five minutes, closing your eyes and thinking of something pleasant.

When you are dry and every trace of the cream on face and throat has been removed, apply a mask. This can be a homemade one (like almond meal and water mixed to a smooth paste) or one of the commercially prepared varieties. Lie down for twenty minutes or until the mask is dry.

Another application of cream follows the rinsing off of the mask. Unless your skin is oily, this one stays on until you are ready to go to sleep. One with an oily skin should remove the cream within five minutes, and pat on cold skin tonic or a mild astringent.

The next half hour can be given over to a manicure, use of a depilatory, certainly a deodorant, or whatever beauty treatment you feel you need. Afterward, you just go to bed to get a big night's sleep—in itself a wonderful beauty treatment.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

DEAR MISS DIX: Until a year ago five of us were trying to live on my small salary as a stenographer. It was a meager existence, although my mother is the world's best manager. Then my two brothers, both able and husky young men, descended on us with the idea that they had a right to come home and be supported. I did not complain, though I was the only breadwinner because times were hard. But after both brothers refused prospects of employment I told them frankly that because a one said he would rather starve than work for a laborer's pay, and the other said he would find his own work if he wanted it, I lost patience and asked them to leave. When my mother found out about this she was very much offended with me and has been very reproachful ever since. After one brother called the other day and said he was just a bundle of nerves from having to work. She never considers that I am just a bundle of nerves from the strain of supporting so many persons. More than that, I am engaged to one of the finest men in the world, but I haven't been too proud to do any kind of work he could get to do, but we have to put off our marriage for a year because of my brothers' shiftlessness. But my mother still thinks that I am a cold, hard-hearted selfish creature because I am not willing to support my brothers. What do you think? MABEL.

Answer:

I think you did exactly right in refusing to support your able-bodied brothers, and if more girls had the grit and courage to do as you have done it would reduce the number of loafers in our midst.

There are thousands upon thousands of homes like yours that are supported by the daughters of the family, and which the sons never contribute a cent, but in which the mothers feel that they should be pampered guests.

Mother always has an alibi for her sons being good-for-nothing deadbeats. John is so delicate he can't do hard labor, although he is the picture of health, can play baseball all afternoon and spend the whole evening around a pool table. Percy is so temperamental. He just can't find any congenial work to do. And Tom always loses his job through bad luck and never because of drink. And, of course, the poor darlings had to come home when they were hungry and had no place to go.

So mother takes them in pets them, feeds them, gives them money for cigarettes and liquor and buys them new clothes, and she thinks what a good mother she is. And it never crosses her mind what a mean, cruel, dastardly turn she is doing her daughters, or how unfair it is that she should make a delicate girl work to support a strong healthy man, and that she should take a girl's hard earnings to give to a man who is too lazy to work himself.

Why daughters are any more obligated to take care of their parents than sons are, nobody knows. Nor does anybody know why parents think they have a right to their girls' money and not to their boys', but that is the way they feel about it. They take a girl's pay envelope as a matter of course. They don't realize that she is supporting the house, that they have no right to impose her brothers upon her, make her feed and clothe them when they are far more able to work than she is.

But they do it, and there is no hope that mother will ever do otherwise. She will always be ready with the fatted calf, which Susie has to pay for, when the prodigal son comes home. That is not only hard on Susie, it is the ruination of the weak, self-indulgent idler who will never work as long as he has a good bed to sleep in and plenty of food to eat, and mother to supply him with a little change on the side.

The only cure for the trifling is to throw them out on their own and make them realize that they have to work or starve. A gnawing stomach would cure many a temperamental sponger and make many work look good if it furnishes the price of a meal. So more power to the girl who had enough backbone to sweep her lazy brothers out of doors. May her tribe increase.

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Every little steak dreams of an outdoor fireplace. Can you blame it, with its prospect of becoming a rich, tender cabob, flanked by savory bacon and tasty tomatoes?

BEEF CABOBS

Tender squares of steak, squares of bacon, tomato quarters, skewers.

Alternate the steak, bacon and tomato on steel skewers. Then broil in an outdoor fireplace. Season with salt and pepper. If you prefer, alternate the squares of steak with onion slices, and season with mustard, garlic or Worcestershire for extra pep.

That woodsy note comes from "The Country Cookbook", the latest product of those cookbook writing Brown—Cora, Rose and Bob. They've caught the feel of spacious and simple fare and written such a book as a man as well as a woman can read of an evening and sigh for the good old times. Don't sigh, cook some of these recommendations of the Browns' in your own home, using the oven grill in place of the open fireplace.

FISH CABOBS

Slices of small fish seasoned and marinated in wine for half an hour, bay leaves, butter, skewers.

Magnify the seasoned fish. Wipe dry and thread on skewers with halves of bay leaves between. Brush with butter and grill under clear hot flame.

LAMB CABOBS

Chunks of tender lamb, quarters of firm tomatoes, bits of onion, skewers.

String all on skewers, alternating. Season and broil.

If the people who live in the country really do eat the following—and The Country Cookbook says they do—then city slickers have a lot to learn about good food.

LOBSTER EN BROCHETTE

Two-inch cubes cooked fresh or quick-frozen lobster, large pieces fresh mushrooms, salt, pepper, nutmeg, 2 tablespoons sherry broiled bacon.

Alternate the cubes of lobster and the mushrooms on skewers. First the lobster must be laid in a bowl with the salt, pepper, dash of nutmeg and sherry. Grill for from 6 to 10 minutes, turning frequently in order to cook the mushrooms evenly. Bacon, crisp and serve with melted butter poured over the lobster and mushrooms. Crisp cooked bacon belongs in this woodsy picture, also.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Strawberries and cream, brown sugar, sausage cakes, nut muffins, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Fishermen's stew with creamed dried beef vegetable salad, almond cup cakes, tea, milk.

DINNER: Black bean soup, beef cabobs, buttered cauliflower, country fried potatoes, cherry pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

What To Do

I am planning to give a dance and invite about twenty couples, all of high school age. Will you tell me whether I should ask each person individually or send out written invitations? Is it ever correct to request a young man to bring a certain girl? If so should this be written in the invitation? SUE R.

Answer—First of all, no girl of high school age should send out invitations to a dance; they should be extended by your parents. The invitation could be formal or informal. Either an engraved card like this:

Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace request the pleasure of Miss Virginia Cole's company at a small dance for their daughter at Mayfair Manor on Friday evening, March twenty-fifth
at nine o'clock

Or you could write a note similar to the following: "Dear Virginia: My parents are giving a dance for me at the Mayfair Manor on Friday evening at nine o'clock. I'll be disappointed if you cannot come. Sincerely,——." But I wouldn't request a young man to bring a certain girl. Let the boys and girls come as they wish. If a boy knows that a certain girl is invited, he needs no suggestion if he wishes to escort her to the dance, but let him do the asking.

Andrienne Will Tell You the Type to Wed

ANDRIENNE

What is your vocation?

What type should you marry?

Two important questions affecting practically every life and yet few people know the answers to them.

Each person, however, gives his own answer. It is told in his handwriting.

The crossing of a "t," the dotting of an "i," inclination of the words, the size of writing, all contribute something to the story of the character of the person who has written them.

The writer himself cannot interpret these signs. But trained graphologists like Andrienne, an outstanding authority on graphology can tell you things about yourself which may affect your entire future.

Business and professional men and women, artists, musicians and educators have received help from this clever analyst.

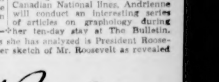

POSTAL PROBLEM

She has shown thousands of people how they may cash in on their strong points and is the recipient of thousands of grateful, appreciative letters from people she has helped.

Her mail bag is a postal problem and the letters in it are stamped from many far-away as well as from near-by points.

She is known, too, through her lecture work. Service clubs as well as many other organizations have had Andrienne address them on graphology.

Among the famous personalities she has analyzed is President Roosevelt. Below is Andrienne's character sketch of Mr. Roosevelt as revealed from his handwriting.

It is of fascinating interest to examine the handwriting of an outstanding individual such as President Roosevelt.

His flowing, spontaneous, buoyant script truly depicts his brilliant mind and magnetic personality.

A person of dynamic force, vigor and energy he embodies personal charm together with lofty ideals and principles.

Independence of thought, originality and a keen mental alertness are clearly visible in his quick grasp of essentials and his understanding of superfluities. Owing to his marked intuition he is instinctive rather than deductive.

Indomitable courage and fortitude are denoted; his assurance, the fearlessness to stay with his convictions regardless of opposition or locality.

He is not a slave of public opinion, neither would he satisfy the whims and caprices of others in order to obtain favor or approval.

In his decisions, he is not guided nor biased by prejudices, but rendered fair and impartial by his ideals.

Sensitiveness and "fellow feeling" is generously tempered by sympathy, tact and understanding. There is a wonderful harmony in his nature that he not only wins respect and affection, but also inspires confidence and faith.

He is never deserted by a refreshing sense of humor when he adroitly introduces with great ingenuity.

His true sincerity, vision and insight are generously interwoven in his nature, gives him a sympathetic, understanding, tolerant attitude towards mankind.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Will you kindly settle a three cornered argument over the enclosed hand, which occurred last night in a duplicate game? My partner and I reached seven no trump and East doubled. Now for the argument!

"1. My partner claims that I was a nitwit to conceal my club suit and that we should have played the hand in seven clubs, which would have been an absolute squeeze.

"2. I claim that my bidding, although unorthodox, was perfectly sound at match point duplicate and that in my honest for high score on the board I was justified in trying for a no trump grand slam, rather than a minor suit grand slam which, I felt, many other teams would make.

"3. My partner and I agree on only one thing, and that is that East had unmitigated gall to double the seven no trump, even though the double was successful; that he was darned lucky that his partner, instead of either North or myself, had the jack of diamonds.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	No trumps	Pass
7 diamonds	Double	7 no trump	Pass
Pass	Double	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

"Obviously my three diamond jump takeout was an effort to stall off a diamond lead against the no trump contract upon which I already had decided. I didn't know exactly how far I was going in no trump. That depended on partner's responses, but when he jumped from three to five diamonds my hand was worth seven sure tricks. Added to that, I knew that seven clubs looked pretty good. When East doubled the seven diamonds I was sure he was double crossing me, and I secretly laughed up my sleeve when I thought about the five clubs I would be going to get. Unfortunately I still found myself one trick short, five clubs, two spades, one heart and three diamonds (West opened a spade).

"Do you think that my bidding was entirely bad? And please express your opinion about East's double.

"Yours truly, G. R. D., Chicago."

I cannot be highly critical of South's bidding. Since he was playing duplicate and was looking for a hand in which no trump enjoys an appreciable advantage over suit contracts, and since he could go back to no trump no matter how high his partner raised in diamonds, I do not think that South's three diamond force was bad. Although my personal preference is toward the jump takeout of either North or myself, had the jack of diamonds.

Raising A Family -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

We have a way of thinking that children of two are babies, and so they are. There is no visible dividing line between babyhood and young childhood. The months and weeks pass evenly, and, mother, you won't see much difference after the birthday cake has proudly been topped by twin candles.

Yet in your mind there is a certain relief. Jackie is able to play by himself more; he can do things for himself, and besides, his diet is becoming so general that you can feed him almost anything.

Tiny children are very "suggestible." They do the things mother says, "Let us" do so and so, than when we say, "You do this or that."

At two or three they are not yet able completely to separate their personalities from those of their mothers. We have to wait a little longer for this. They love to cooperate, and take delight in pleasing.

Another thing that may help in understanding the behavior of your small son, or daughter, is that they understand "no" better than a positive order. Please don't smile at this, because it doesn't quite click with our Jackie deliberately pulling the paper off the book he said "No," you mustn't touch the pretty flower, darling."

He won't always want to obey the negative commands, of course, but he will understand them better than the other kind. "It's bedtime," so he quiet and go to sleep," may fall two times out of four, but the other type of command is less often because this is the way he is made.

He will learn gradually, and in time equal attention to both kinds of orders, but his first pick-up is the negative one.

PRAISE HELPS

Work "with" him rather than against him. When he has the feeling that it is a co-operative activity instead of a divided affair with you on one side and himself on the other, he'll try harder to please. He loves praise and this is a splendid way to bribe him. Praise is a wonderful ally of the mother. It is something we all need as long as we live, but it is particularly effective during young childhood.

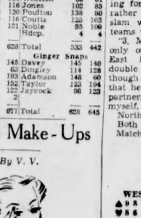

From two to six, character is formed, never to be quite changed. It is the age of developing reasoning and making mistakes. Too often it is mistaken for the naughty age, because reason is not yet sufficiently developed to act as a guide.

89 Bushels Of Wheat Is Held Not For Sale

CALGARY, March 2 — Alberta has 89 bushels of wheat, the only supply of its kind in the world and it is not for sale. It is the "Elite" strain of Red Bobs, a wheat believed particularly suitable for Alberta. It will be the parents of future first, second and third and other generations of Red Bobs.

Seventy-two bushels were developed by the University of Alberta, for distribution to seed growers, and the other 17 bushels are in the hands of Howard Wright, master farmer of Airdrie.

Rescuers Cheered When 11-Day Grind Saves Fox Terrier

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 2.—"Spotty's rescued! He's alive! He's well!" were the cheerful words flashed through the streets of nearby Farley last night.

Everyone was happy, even "Spotty", a five-year-old, black and white Fox Terrier, whose droopy eyes looked up from a comfortable blanket near the stove in Emmet Simon's farm home.

"Spotty" was rescued Tuesday, gaunt and tired, from a dark, damp crevice 28 feet below the surface. He had spent 258½ hours, in quarters which provided him barely room enough to walk about.

But, meantime, a party headed by his master had for 10 days blasted and dug through solid limestone to free the entombed pet, whose barkings, becoming fainter each day, had spurred them on.

"Spotty" was trapped a week ago last Friday afternoon by a falling rock which blocked the passageway behind him after he had chased a fox into a hole at the base of a bluff on the farm where Simon lives.

When the rock was removed Tuesday, "Spotty" wagged his tail feebly and whimpered. Simon rushed him to the surface, where a bowl of hot milk awaited him. Rescuers leaned wearily on their shovels while a crowd of about 100 cheered wildly.

Honors

Dominating the horizon at Verdun, near Bordeaux, France, is the huge ossuary and shaft, above, which will soon be dedicated to commemoration of La-fayette's aid to America in the Revolution, General Pershing's World War feats and the arrival in French soil of the American Expeditionary Forces.

CREDITOR ACT AMENDMENTS ARE PROBLEM

OTTAWA, March 2. — Whatever amendments are made to the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act it will be impossible to satisfy both extreme views on the subject, Hon. Charles Dunning, finance minister, told the House of Commons Tuesday as his bill to amend the act received second reading.

The two extreme views were of those who wanted the act abolished and those who wanted its provisions extended for the benefit of debtor farmers.

There were sections of the country which still needed the law, said Mr. Dunning, Saskatchewan in particular. In those sections there was a strong demand for a widening of the scope of the law.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, suggested the bill be sent to a special committee so that members could make and discuss suggestions for amendments freely.

Germany, Russia Will Have Bigger Warships Built

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The present London consultations among the United States, Great Britain and France, officials said today, will clear the way for Germany and Russia to build larger warships.

The results of the consultations, which were regarded here as certain to abandon the 35,000-ton limit on battleships and the 10,000-ton limit on cruisers, will be communicated to Germany and Russia by Britain.

Ulster Parliament Formally Opened

BELFAST, March 2—The newly-elected parliament of Northern Ireland was formally opened Tuesday by Governor the Duke of Abercorn, H. G. H. Mulholland, Unionist, was unanimously re-elected speaker of the House of Commons.

COMMISSION ON TRANSPORT BILL IS READ

Powers of Railway Commissioners Would be Extended by Act

OTTAWA, March 2 — The House of Commons Tuesday gave first reading to the government measure to convert the board of railway commissioners of Canada into the board of transport commissioners and extend its jurisdiction to include carriage of passengers and freight by water and, air.

There was no debate when Hon. C. D. Howe, transport minister, moved the preliminary resolution and introduced the bill.

Unlike the similar measure introduced in the senate last year and defeated, Tuesday's bill does not deal with highway traffic, nor does it apply to bulk cargoes on the Great Lakes or shipping wholly confined either to the Atlantic seaboard, Hudson Bay, or the British Columbia coast. It does cover shipping between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of Canada.

MEET OBJECTIONS

These changes from last year's bill are expected to meet the strenuous objections that came from all parts of Canada when the senate measure was in committee.

Mr. Howe said the highways control clause was dropped because of the limited jurisdiction of the federal government over this form of transportation.

One addition to the powers of the present board of particular interest to railways is in a section which would enable the board of transport commissioners to approve special agreements between carriers and shippers for agreed charges under certain circumstances and conditions.

GIVE AUTHORITY

The bill would give the board authority to approve rate tariffs and by-laws of carrier corporations and regulate in a general way the carriage of passengers and goods by rail, water and air. All carriers would be licensed and heavy penalties are provided for violation of board regulations.

The board will retain all the rights and responsibilities held by the present board.

The bill provides that before the transport minister issues a license for the transport of goods or passengers the board shall determine whether public convenience and necessity require such transport, and the quality and permanence of service likely to be furnished by the applicant. The tariff shall be fixed by the board subject to approval by the governor in council.

OFFICERS LIABLE

Fines imposed under the act shall be paid to the receiver general of Canada and if any corporation is guilty of a breach of the act for which a fine is imposed, every officer or director of such corporation who is privy to such breach, shall be liable to summary conviction to a like fine as the corporation.

Licenses may be issued to one or more vessels in the name of the owner, master or operator, unless otherwise provided with a certificate of the board as to qualifications, the bill says. No license shall be granted in respect of a ship other than British, hereafter imported into Canada, which was constructed or fitted out 10 years before such importation.

AIR TRANSPORT

Another section deals with transport by air and provides that all aircraft engaged in the transport of passengers or goods, unless exempted by the governor in council, must be licensed by the transport ministe. The license may prescribe the route or routes to be followed and will be issued only on certificate of the board that the proposed service is and will be required by the public convenience and necessity.

Fines to a maximum of $500 are provided for breach of this regulation, accompanied by suspension or cancellation of licenses.

Tariffs of tolls and rates to be charged by licensed carriers must be submitted to the transport board and if the carrier is a corporation its by-laws must be submitted to the board also for approval.

Carriers must continue to operate on the approved tariff and rates unless such tariff has been disallowed or suspended by the board or a new tariff approved.

Farm Auction Brings Big Crowd And Few Buyers

PEACE RIVER, March 2.—The auction sale of farm lands scheduled for 10 o'clock Tuesday at the city in the town hall was immediately adjourned when the authorities were advised of the damage of collapse owing to the crowded hall. The sale was then moved to the provincial building which was packed. Over 1,000 units were advertised for sale but up to noon only a half dozen had been sold. Several all of which were not up to the reserve and were not disposed of.

Since this large list of lands was advertised the local offices have been going at a steady pace to keep up with the demands for consolidation so that it is reported that well over 75 percent of the settled lands have been taken care of by the owners either by paying up or consolidating.

The lands, however, as printed were sold out by the auctioneer apparently no time having been allowed for the scratching of the land taken over by the owners. Just immediately prior to the opening of the sale over a dozen were on hand to arrange settlement of their taxes.

Italy's Great Warrior Poet Lying In State In His Villa

Gabriele D'Annunzio Has Cerebral Hemorrhage At Villa Vittoriale

GARDONE RIVIERA, Italy, March 2.—The body of Gabriele D'Annunzio, Italy's warrior-poet, lay in state today in his Villa Vittoriale, which he had named for the Italian Great War triumph over Austria.

The 74-year-old poet, president of the National Academy of Italy and a symbol of the Nationalist dreams of Fascism, was clothed in the uniform of a general of aviation, as he had wished.

His decorations were on his breast and at his feet lay the flag he raised when he defied his government to capture and hold Fiume after the Great War.

Despite the many points of conflict between him and the Vatican, the Archbishop of Gardone imparted absolution after his death.

Veterans of D'Annunzio's Fiume campaign and early Fascist black-shirts stood guard in the death chamber.

The poet's son, Gabriele, arrived from Rome last night. Luisa Baccara, who sacrificed her career as a pianist to stay with the aging warrior, was at his villa when he died.

Burial will be in the marble tomb prepared at the top of the "sacred hill" of the villa park, in a small private cemetery where lie the heroes of his march on Fiume.

A telegram announcing the death was sent to D'Annunzio's widow, the Princess of Montenevoso, in Austria since their separation.

VERSE REVEALED

Above the funeral couch is a richly lacquered ceiling with two rows of small windows which in the lamplight, reveal the following lines:

"Prisoner I sing
Thus I live
Thus I strike
Solitary and alone
Burning I arise
Beyond the highest

RICH FURNISHINGS

Suede leather covers the walls; there are 2,000 planes of colored glass; and in honor of his conquest of Fiume and his aerial exploits during the Great War there are mottoes and slogans which adorned his battle flags.

D'Annunzio will lie in state prior to the funeral, for which arrangements were not immediately announced.

Officials in Rome thought Premier Mussolini might visit Gardone Riviera to honor the patriot and attend his funeral.

Mussolini last year named D'Annunzio to succeed the late Marquis Guglielmo Marconi to one of the highest honors that can be paid an Italian—presidency of the Academy of Italy.

ALBERTA TIED BY REGULATION MULLEN SAYS

diner, Dominion minister of agriculture, seeking assistance as a result of wires forwarded recently from an earlier debate in the house.

T. L. Gray, Alberta Liberal leader asked Mr. Mullen for information as to the amounts remaining under the appropriations of $750,000 and $100,000.

ASKS EXCHANGE

J. H. Tremblay, Liberal, Gaspard, requested Mr. Mullen to table all correspondence on the drouth area relief question, between the Dominion and provincial governments and in reply Mr. Mullen suggested that all correspondence on the subject between the provincial and the Dominion government be tabled. Mr. Gray declared his willingness to table the material.

The exchange of telegrams as read by Mr. Mullen follow:

To Mr. Gardiner from Mr. Mullen, Feb. 24:

"Alberta seed situation in drought areas serious. Will Dominion government extend the present regulations to cover the seed in the drought area up to the grant of $750,000 and in the adjoining territory up to the grant of $100,000 already set aside for that purpose. Prompt reply essential."

Mr. Gardiner's reply to Mr. Mullen Feb. 25 read:

"Re your telegram Feb. 24. The agreement covered by order-in-council here provides for you charging up to $750,000 in federal section of the drought area and $100,000 in the provincial section of the drought area to the Dominion government provided the expenditure is made under regulations submitted by you under date of Sept. 18, 1937, and approved by me under date of Sept. 30, 1937.

"There is no provision in the agreement for me going further but it does definitely provide in section 7 (subsection C) for the province paying their accounts where they go further. You can borrow an equal amount to the expenditure by provincial drought area by the Dominion to cover what the province decides to do over and above what the Dominion pays for.

"My reading of the agreement is that seed grain is not available outside those provided in the regulations you submitted arise within the federal section of the drought area the province undertakes to deal with them and pay any costs incurred."

MULLEN REPLIES

Mr. Mullen then replied to Mr. Gardiner February 25 as follows:

"Order hundred and fifty thousand dollars urgently needed to provide feed in areas not covered by regulation. Your wire February 25 not clear. Will you grant us $75,000 provided another $75,000 to take care of this emergency. Re provincial drought area. Have already provided approximately $60,000 of grant. Will you immediately authorize loan of $50,000 as per your wire for federal area. Other cases not covered by regulations."

Mr. Gardiner's reply telegram to Mr. Mullen February 26 read:

"Re telegram 25th. Have referred your request for grant and loan to minister of finance. Would suggest your provincial treasurer make application to minister of finance for any additional amounts required stating use to be made of funds and indicating financial need of provincial government."

Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, then sent the following telegram to Finance Minister Dunning, February 26:

REQUESTS LOAN

"Referring your minister agriculture telegram 26th to minister of agriculture, Ottawa. Respectfully request on behalf of province loan of $75,000 and grant of same amount for purposes meeting cost fodder relief emergent cases in federal area and not covered by regulations. Also advance of $50,000 for same purpose provincial area. Total loan $125,000.

"Provided the nine months period ended December 31 has made net payments for unemployment relief totalling $1,000,000 and net expenditures for agricultural relief total $480,067. Total loans from your government for unemployment and agricultural relief during period total $126,450.

"Our cash deficit Dec. 31, $262,000, and estimated cash requirement end of fiscal year will be approximately $1,000,000. Forwarding your auditor's report for period ended Dec. 31. Province is making every effort to provide for extraordinary expenditures without recourse to your government for assistance in any way but this application will have your favorable consideration and we appreciate your decision by wire."

DUNNING REPLY

Mr. Dunning's reply to Mr. Low was received today. It read:

"Your wire asking for loans of $125,000 and grant of $75,000. Minister of agriculture wired Mr. Mullen Feb. 25 that that grant requested could not be made as expenditures contemplated are not properly chargeable under terms of agreement. Our solicitor has considered suggestion that Dominion should loan you that amount requested but his opinion is that this would be illegal under terms of agreement and order in council.

"This for reason that the funds required are for expenditure which Dominion is required to disallow under terms of agreement. Have examined your financial statements that by end of fiscal year you will have a cash shortage approaching $1,500,000. While we could not loan you for above purpose we could make loan for any other portion of your legitimate unemployment relief expenditures covered by terms of any agreemi with Dominion.

"If this satisfactory, please wire request and give undertaking to submit monthly certified financial statement in usual form for last three months of your fiscal year. While agreement as above I must point out that your cash shortage will apparently be wholly explained by redemption of saving certificates and by increasing your sinking funds. In other words by cash used to reduce your net debt."

IMPOSSIBLE TO USE

After reading the wires Mr. Mullen declared that "There was $750,000 set aside for both Dominion and provincial areas. Under the regulations it is impossible for us to use that amount. The situation is that this province is hogtied by the regulations in the agreement with the Dominion. We have asked to see if we could get an arrangement so that we would be able to use that amount of money. If that arrangement was not granted we would not require a loan from the Dominion government. I believe Mr. Gardiner understands that and Dominion members have taken up the question with Mr. Gardiner."

Mr. Mullen then read an extract from a letter written to him by Capt. Victor Quelch, M.C., Social Credit member of parliament for Acadia, in which discussions between himself and Hon. Mr. Gardiner were mentioned.

The conversations were that there was not expected to be any difficulty in obtaining a loan from the Dominion.

EXACTLY SAME

Continuing, Mr. Mullen said that "And the minister of finance, in his telegram, points out that it is illegal for the Dominion to give us a loan under the present agreement. It has been pointed out on the floor of the house and we have agreed that the agreement the Dominion has with the Saskatchewan government is exactly the same as the one with Alberta.

"If it is illegal to give a loan to Alberta, then it must have been the same illegal to give $1,000,000 loan to Saskatchewan. I feel that not only the members of the house, but the people of the province should know what is going on and what this government is trying to do, to alleviate the serious situation in the drouth area at the present time."

In reply to Mr. Gray, Mr. Mullen said that "between $300,000 and $600,000 of the total of $750,000 already has been spent, but there is enough in the two accounts to do what is required without making a loan."

R. E. Ansley, S.C., Leduc, in commenting on the wires, asked "Do I understand that the Dominion government is flatly refusing the proposal that the honorable leader of the Liberal party suggested we submit the other day?"

Mr. Ansley then directed attention to Mr. Gray's suggestion that the legislature communicate further with the Dominion on the drouth area's relief problem with a view to obtaining further assistance.

GEORGE BREAKS PLEDGE TO TURN HIMSELF OVER

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., March 2—William George will spend the next 10 days in jail because of a broken promise and a five-cent sandwich.

Arthur Nishiguchi, Japanese storekeeper, complained George assaulted him when he refused a request for a five-cent sandwich on credit. George was indicted, police said, when he was arrested.

George had promised to turn himself over to police whenever he felt the urge to drink too much.

SHAREHOLDERS OF LAKE SULPHITE GUARD INTERESTS

MONTREAL, March 2.—To guard their interests in Lake Sulphite Paper Company, shareholders of the $6,000,000 concern Tuesday appointed a protective committee at an emergency meeting.

The seven man committee was decided upon as an outgrowth of the lack of capital that forced stoppage of the company's huge pulp development at Red Rock, in northern Ontario. The firm is in the hands of a receiver.

Earlier, George S. Currie, receiver and manager named by the Ontario courts, said the capital had halted the firm's huge pulp development in northern Ontario, told more than 300 shareholders he had been in contact with persons "interested" in supplying new capital to the enterprise.

Drug Control Amendment To Be Proclaimed

OTTAWA, March 2. — Amendments to the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act designed to control the production of Indian hemp from the leaves of which the marijuana drug is obtained will be proclaimed by proclamation, it was decided in the House of Commons Tuesday. The amending bill received third reading and was reported from committee Tuesday after a clause was inserted to make it effective on proclamation.

Meet Mr. Smith, 3,000 Of Them, and All Freds

NEW YORK, March 2 — "Think of it—President Fred Smith, vice President Fred Smith . . ."

It was Fred Smith talking, doing a bit of speculating at the second annual dinner of the Benevolent and Protective and Completely Universal Order of Fred Smiths of America.

"There are 3,000 of us now organized throughout the country," said Smith. "That means 3,000 cells of influence. Fred Smiths that is a terrific political block. And we're growing all the time. By 1940 we may be able to swing the election. Think of it . . .

More than 100 Mr. and Mrs Fred Smiths broke bread here last night, while others banqueted in Chicago, Detroit, Dallas and Kansas City.

Fred Smith of Chapequa, N.Y., who founded the order in 1936 when he wearied of telling telephone callers that he was not Fred (Meat Market) Smith, Fred (Undertaker) Smith or Fred (Tailor) Smith, was elected provost.

SNATCHERS GIVE WEIRD ORDERS MAKE CONTACT

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 2.—A second note—written on a cheap "doll" advertising coupon sold as toys for children—was disclosed Tuesday as the parents of 12-year-old Peter Levine, missing since last Thursday, frantically waited to make contact with the boy's abductors.

The note directed Peter's father, Murray Levine, New York lawyer, to write a fantastic method of signifying his willingness to negotiate. It instructed the father or an emissary to go to a Third avenue elevated train track in Manhattan and mark a pillar at a designated spot with green chalk.

Presumably a member of the "snatch" gang or the kidnapper himself would be on the watch.

First Pensioner

PORT ALBERNI, B.C., March 2.—Funeral services were held here Tuesday for William Darby, 86, said to be the recipient of the first old age pension cheque issued in Canada. He died Sunday. Darby came to British Columbia in 1894 from Rochester, N.Y.

GUEST ARTIST

Thus Tuesday, diminutive Audrey Skett, who won the first program, February 16, was guest artist at the Strand theatre, where she "brought the house down."

So great has been the interest in the students who have appeared on The Bulletin's programs, that three acts have been selected for Friday evening for the Civil Service dance, in the main ballroom of the Macdonald hotel. At intermission, the guests will be entertained by Gabriel Hervieux, Bob English and Audrey Skett.

VOTE FOR FAVORITE

You can help your favorite radio artist by voting. Ballots appear elsewhere in this paper, and will be printed in both editions Friday. Fill in the name of the artist you think gave the best performance, and mail or deliver it to The Bulletin office, before noon, Monday. There are additional prizes for the voters too. From the entire lot of ballots received, five will be drawn, and the senders of these lucky ballots will each be sent a crisp new two-dollar bill. There is a space for the name of your carrier boy. Fill that in, for he will receive a double pass to the Rialto Theatre if his name is on one of the lucky votes.

Listen to the program over CFRN at 8:30 this evening, and then VOTE!

Following out the instructions of city council, Commissioner Robert J. Gibb and Newman Fleming and Bunnell, Toronto engineering consultants, requesting the firm to make a survey of Edmonton's street railway traffic and routes in connection with the proposed $700,000 rehabilitation program for the tram system. The recommended program would be carried out over a period of ten years.

Milton and Bunnell have advised the city they will make the three-week survey for $1,500, and it is expected the survey will be started early in May. It is not proposed to commence the program before 1939.

Insurance Fund Or Bonding Will Be Given Study

Lawyers Asked to Investigate Means of Preventing Possible Defalcations as Legislature Adopts Amendment to Bond Motion

That the Alberta Law Society consider means of protecting the public from defalcations of trust funds either through bonding of lawyers or establishment of an insurance fund, was the subject of a resolution adopted by the legislature on Tuesday. Adoption of the resolution climaxed a debate resulting from a motion by A. E. Fee, S.C., Sedgewick.

Mr. Fee's original motion advocated the bonding of all lawyers handling trust funds. When the motion was first introduced the debate was adjourned by Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton, who declared that the matter was under consideration by the Law Society and the resolution be adopted on Tuesday was the result.

The motion as adopted came under Dr. H. K. Brown, S.C., Pembina, introduced the amendment to the Fee motion.

BROWN AMENDMENT

Under the Brown amendment, the house decrees that "The Law Society of Alberta should further consider the protection of the public against loss from defalcations by members of the society, either by the bonding of lawyers or by the building up of an insurance fund in accordance with the method adopted in New Zealand."

A brief debate followed the introduction of the Brown amendment.

Although no details of the New Zealand plan were disclosed, Dr. Brown said that he understood levies were made on members of the society and were used to build up the fund by which members were bonded by the law organization itself.

Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton said that toward the original resolution, there was "bitter resentment" in the legal profession. He said that it singled out lawyers "from among the thousands upon thousands of persons who handle trust funds." At the same time, he expressed appreciation of the fact that Mr. Fee was moving his resolution through the best of motives and intentions and he appreciated the kindly sentiments expressed about the legal profession by Mr. Fee.

ATTACKS HARMFUL

Mr. O'Connor submitted that the New Zealand plan instilled and fostered confidence and business picked up. He said that in Alberta every attack on the legal profession and the courts had resulted in harm being done.

He declared that a previous government had brought in similar resolutions and used for political purposes. But, he thought the present resolution came in with the best of intentions. So far as he knew the previous resolutions were withdrawn without being put to a vote.

It was submitted by Mr. Fee that when debate was adjourned last week, he felt that an amendment would be brought in that would include others handling trust funds. He expressed disappointment that such was not the case. He did not want any impression to get abroad that he was casting any reflection on members of the legal profession.

FOUR YOUTHS GIVEN TERMS FOR ROBBERY

A career of crime embarked upon by four youths ended abruptly when they were convicted by Magistrate A. H. Gibson in police court Tuesday afternoon on counts of housebreaking and robbery with violence. Two of them, John Lardner and Bert Harrington, named by police as the ringleaders, were sentenced to serve four years with hard labor in Prince Albert penitentiary. The other two, brothers of the other lads, Albert Lardner and Kenneth Harrington, were sentenced to one-year terms.

The youths were arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police and convicted on charges arising out of the theft of $1,400 from the Searle grain elevator at Ginn last fall, the robbing of Ray Yates of Rich Valley, and of George Reynolds and Edward Billington of Ferintosh.

9,987 Registered Jobless Persons

Registered unemployed in this province as at Saturday last totalled 9,987, according to figures released on Wednesday by officials of the Alberta Employment Service. This is a decrease over the total for the previous week, which was 10,244.

Calgary continued as the main unemployment centre of the province with a total of 4,463 males and 619 females.

This city ran in second place with 3,180 males and 478 females. Lethbridge was third with 964 males and 45 females; Medicine Hat next with 446 males and 67 females and Drumheller had 114 males and five female.

During the week there were placements found for 244 males and 85 females.

CITY GIVEN COAT OF ICE BY FINE RAIN

Moisture evaporated from the Edmonton area during the warm spell in the latter part of February was partially replaced during Tuesday evening and again on Wednesday morning when a rather stiff mixture of fine rain and ice coated the city with a thin film of slippery footing. Autos and pedestrians alike found caution necessary as they plied the streets Wednesday.

Much to the disappointment of many citizens who hoped for a phenomenally early spring this year, the forecast at 9 a.m. Wednesday went back to "cold, with probable snow," while the thermometer at 9 a.m. Wednesday was at 21 above.

Considerably below the readings of the past few days, Tuesday's highest temperature was only 33 above, registered at noon, after which time the red line went steadily down the tube to stop its descent at 7 a.m. Wednesday with a reading of 21 above, where it remained until 9 a.m.

The Inquiring Reporter

Ald. A. Bisset is proposing to city council that the city sponsor a garden competition to be named for unemployed families on relief, cash prizes being given for the best vegetable and flower gardens. He suggests that for the purposes of the contest, the city be divided into four districts with prizes being given for each district and two grand awards for the best garden in all districts. The alderman proposes a prize list of about $300.

"What do you think of the plan?" The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter asked today. Replies follow:

ALD. BISSET: My idea in proposing the vegetable and flower garden competition for unemployed families is to supply relief cases with an incentive to grow good gardens. I believe that the contest would encourage them to help themselves, particularly with respect to their vegetable supplies for the winter months. This would help the city financially, as otherwise the city would be called upon to provide vegetable allowances. The competition will encourage unemployed people to improve and beautify their garden, and the total of about $300 in prizes I am suggesting is certainly not a large amount for the city to make for a cause such as this.

ALFRED PIKE, horticulurist: If council decides to do anything along the line it should be with the co-operation of the Edmonton Horticultural Society. If I remember correctly, the society sponsored such a competition several years ago, but it was not given the support it deserved, and relief cases, for the most part, appeared to be uninterested. But it has always been my opinion that unemployed would be able to get better results than they do if not for the fact that they would have more time to spend in their gardens. If the proposal is adopted by council I am willing to cooperate personally.

FREDA BODMAN, business girl: I think Ald. Bisset has hit on a good plan to encourage relief vegetable and flower gardens among the unemployed. There's nothing like a competition to improve quality and quantity in flower and vegetable gardens. And another advantage in such a contest is the fact that relief cases would be given an incentive to produce more vegetables, and this would in turn relieve the city of a big portion of the cost of supplying vegetables to these families.

TOMMY AIRD, dairy farm employee: The competition proposed by Ald. Bisset is a fine idea. I think it would help to raise the standard of vegetables and flowers grown in Edmonton, and would give unemployed families a useful hobby for the spring and summer months. And another thing—it would mean that a lot of vacant property, now made an eyesore by weeds and refuse, would be put into cultivation and beautified.

HUGH SHARON CUP CONTEST HERE FRIDAY

High School Students Will Compete in Public Speaking Competition

The trophy for public speaking, dedicated by the late Dr. Edgar Allin, to the memory of a young soldier, Hugh A. Sharon, will be up for competition again among high school students Friday evening at McKay Avenue school.

The rules have undergone drastic changes this year. No longer is each student allowed to choose his own subject and prepare his speech on that topic. Instead a list of eight subjects has been made out by the committee directing the contest. This list was sent to each school and the pupils have had a chance in the past two months to prepare themselves for talks on each and all of these subjects.

On Friday evening, each speaker on reaching the platform will draw the subject of his speech and then proceed.

SUBJECTS OF TALKS

These are the subjects: "Educational Advantages for Canadian Schools"; "Value of Spanish as a Second Language"; "Should the B.N.A. Act be Revised"; "Democracy—Will it Survive?"; "The Way to Peace"; Mining Development in Canada"; "Across Canada by Air in 1940"; "A National Defence Policy for Canada."

Entertainment will be provided throughout the evening by students from the various high schools in the city; and A. E. Ottewell registrar of the university will be chairman. Judges include Dr. Brown, Dr. Ewing, Rev. R. Pearson, F. Armour Ford.

The program starts at 8 o'clock.

Former Castor Resident Gets Sentence Hoist

Remanded for sentence for one year when he pleaded guilty in March, 1934, to converting $255 property of the Lake of The Woods Milling Co. to his own use, James G. Arrol, former Castor resident, was brought up in court Tuesday afternoon and given one year suspended sentence by Mr. Justice Frank Ford.

When called on for sentence in March 1935 the accused did not answer to his call, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest. This warrant was only executed within the last few days at Vancouver.

The accused converted the proceeds of a shipment of flour consigned to him at Castor by the milling company.

After some discussion, a motion was brought in by Trustee S. Bruce Smith at the regular monthly health committee meeting of the Edmonton Public School Board on Tuesday evening, that Superintendent G. A. McKee find sketch plans and estimates for building three schools in the west end: a high school, a public school, and the continuation of the Calder school. Plans of the Crescent Heights school in Calgary were recommended as ideal for a high school, and they will be sent for. The regular finance committee meeting followed.

18,000 WORKERS IN OIL INDUSTRY ARE VICTORIOUS

MEXICO CITY, March 2.—The Labor section of the Mexican supreme court Tuesday upheld an arbitration board award of increased wages and benefits to oil workers and thereby presented the $400,000,000 foreign-owned industry with the question of abiding by the decision or making good on threats to abandon its operations in Mexico.

Four justices of the section unanimously rejected the appeal by 17 British, United States and Netherlands companies from the award which they contended would increase their yearly costs by $12,000,000. The arbitration board estimated the increased costs at $7,200,000 annually.

The benefits would go to 18,000 workers in the industry.

Speeding The Work Of Mercy

The first Chevrolet off the assembly line of the re-opened Regina plant of General Motors of Canada was dedicated to the work of mercy when it was presented to the Saskatchewan branch of the Red Cross Society. It is seen on the left in this picture. On the right is another Chevrolet, the first off the line eight years earlier when it also was presented to the Red Cross. It has since seen 65,000 miles of service for the Society. The keys of the 1938 machine were presented by Harry J. Carmichael, vice-president and general manager, General Motors of Canada, to Hon. A. P. McNab, Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan.

OIL OUTPUT HITS PEAK IN JANUARY

CALGARY, March 2—Alberta oil production reached a new peak in January with an output of 444,196 barrels, according to a report issued by the petroleum and natural gas division of the department of lands and mines today.

The record January production compared with 394,893 barrels produced in December, the high producing month of 1937, and 125,714 barrels during January, 1936.

Of the total production in January the Turner Valley field had an output of 440,974 barrels of crude and naphtha. Production in the Red Coulee field totalled 1,214 barrels of light crude, Wainwright 1,210 barrels of heavy crude and the Diana well production was listed at 798 barrels.

Davies Petroleum No. 2 headed the list of Turner Valley producers with a yield of 38,566 barrels of crude, an average of 1,239 barrels a day. Commoil No. 1 was second, 30,927 barrels or a daily average of 998 barrels.

In January the Alberta wells were operated under the pro-ration schedule 35 per cent of capacity during the first half of the month and 42 per cent of the capacity during the second half of the month.

NORTH AMERICAN DEFENCE LEAGUE URGED BY SCOTT

WINDSOR, Ont., March 28.—Canada and the United States should form a democratic defence league to guard North America against the envy of European and Asiatic nations, Archdeacon F. G. Scott of the Anglican Diocese of Quebec said in an address here Monday night.

The famed wartime chaplain of the Canadian Corps named specifically Germany and Japan as countries whose "envious glances" were cast upon Canada.

"I do not want to say anything that will stir up war hatred, but not long ago a book was published in Germany by a man called Dougla[illegible] which said a good place for German colonization was in Canada," the Quebec cleric continued.

ROGERS TELLS GROUP TORIES GRANT IS FAIR

OTTAWA, March 2.—The federal relief grant of $465,000 monthly to Ontario is fair and reasonable, Hon. Norman Rogers, Labor minister, told a group of Toronto Conservatives who maintained a miniature filibuster in the House of Commons last night.

Four Conservative members from Toronto maintained a running fire on the relief and fiscal policies of the government, preventing adoption of the formal motion to go into supply committee.

Mr. Rogers said the Dominion made no grants to Toronto or any other city. It made grants to the provinces and those grants were restricted by the amounts voted by parliament.

After payment of $75,000 in preferred dividends, or 6 per cent, a balance of $23,637 was added to earned surplus, which account stands at $104,364.

On the balance sheet current assets at $673,745 compare with $34,997 in current liabilities. Accounts receivable stand at $242,373, as compared with $130,620. Inventory at $[illegible] compares with $635,850, in connection with which reduction, the president, Hon. Victor Marchand, states that during the year the company disposed of the remainder of its American type whiskey, enabling the directors to declare a dividend of 20 per cent over and above the regular 6 per cent on the preferred. "Domestic sales for the past year showed a satisfactory increase," states Mr. Marchand, "and your board looks forward to further improvement in sales during the current year. However, this will depend to a large extent on employment and general business conditions."

ANGLO GAINS CONTROL NEW OIL REFINERY

CALGARY, March 2.—Announcement was made here today that Anglo-Canadian Development and Holding Co. Ltd. has acquired a substantial controlling interest in Central Refineries Ltd., which has an oil refinery plant at Brandon, Manitoba. The capacity of this plant, it is stated, will shortly be increased to 2,500 barrels a day.

Acquisition of a refining plant places Anglo-Canadian in a strategic position in the Turner Valley field. Already operating eight producing wells and with seven others either drilling or preparing to drill, and with considerable acreage in the heart of the proven crude oil area and in other prospective fields, Anglo-Canadian is forging rapidly ahead as one of the leading oil producing organizations in Canada.

U. S. STOCKMEN FEAR TREATIES CANADA CATTL[E]

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The American National Livestock Association, through F. E. Mollin of Denver, its secretary, told the federal tariff commission Tuesday the domestic livestock industry could not meet any further foreign competition.

Mollin filed a brief with the commission's committee for reciprocity information in connection with pending negotiations for a new trade agreement with Canada. [illegible] said:

"With prices already at disastrously low levels, it is clear that no further foreign competition can be met."

The brief cited a resolution the association approved at its annual convention last month calling trade treaty negotiations with Canada and the United Kingdom "a distinct threat to our industry."

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Strangely Familiar Ice For Aussies Fighting Medwick

It seems that we have been misled for a whole flock of years. What is more, it all came about through not maintaining a one hundred per cent cynical outlook. For a long time I have been led to believe that the pure amateur ideal of sport for the sake of sport and not for the sake of money or a paying job was to be found only in dear old England. I gathered that some of this rare spirit had sort of slopped over the English borders and might be found in limited quantities in Scotland, Wales—yes, even in perhaps the odd spot in Ireland.

But Denis O'Sullivan of the Daily Mirror has gone and ruined these good delusions. He recently went into the amateur versus money problem either thoroughly in his featured sport column, and what he says about the situation in the old country sounds strangely like what Canadian sport writers have been saying for years.

Says Denis in one place: "The problem of paying amateurs has cropped up in tennis, track and field athletics, ping-pong, soccer, rugger, golf, swimming, boxing, rowing, ice hockey and cricket in recent years. Y'see, to keep amateur sport going as a gate-money spectacle, we've had to give the players a lot of license since they're the money-spinners. Result—as many ways of interpreting the word 'amateur' as there are of filling up your penny pool coupon."

Fred Perry says that a top-flight amateur tennis player touring around lives at the rate of $20,000 a year. Ice hockey amateurs in England get something like $40 a week as an expense allowance. There are said to be hundreds of amateur soccer players who have been signed on as a result of their ability, with a little extra money added for this talent. Australia's amateur cricketers get something like $3,000 each for a test match trip to England with all expenses paid, O'Sullivan declares.

It would seem that amateurs are no purer in the British Isles than they are anywhere else under the out-moded definition of amateurism that is still in force. But what sets me right back on my heels is that the old boss of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union have had the gall to tell us for umpteen years that unless we keep our amateurs as pure as the driven snow, those specious Britishers will bar us from the Olympic Games. Wotinell, wotinell.

O.C. Hockey Gleanings

BEFORE leaving England with our fault-back to showing down, it would be noted that our Joe Brown now takes his pen in hand when that member is not engaged with a hockey stick. Joe is writing articles on the leading sport pages under his own name, but if you know Joe you need only one glance to see that these articles have been re-written by staff men to conform to the publication's idea of what it is all about.

Joe advocates a valuable player trophy for English hockey such as is awarded annually in the N.H.L. However, the article calls the N.H.L. "the big provincial ice league". Them ain't our Joe's words.

Reports are that in the near future, Australia will go in for hockey, with artificial ice plants at Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide. The game is already being played at Johannesburg, South Africa, and drawing well. J. F. Ahearne, the executive behind hockey in the British Isles, is developing plans for empire tourneys in this game. The Australian angle is interesting, since it will provide hockey jobs during the summer months in England and Canada in view of our summer being Australia's winter.

There would appear to be a really bright future ahead of Canadian pucksters who have the ability and don't mind travelling around the world.

The Story Of Ducky Medwick

ONE of the best-ball yarns to come along in years is "Lord Medwick of Cartaret", the saga of Ducky by J. Roy Stockton in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post. If you've got baseballs mixed up with corpuscles of your blood-stream, you'll get a kick out of this inside story of the rise of the Hungarian Rhapsody. One excerpt gives you a graphic idea of what sort of guy Medwick is.

"He's the dumdest man I ever seen," Dizzy Dean once complained. "Before you even get to do enough talkin' to get really mad enough to fight and make a good job of it, Joe wops you and the fight's all over. That ain't no way to fight!"

HORSES ARE IN MOTION UNDER GRAY SYSTEM

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, March 2.—A move which it is hoped will lead to an improved system of starting has been launched by the National Association of State Racing Commissioners.

A questionnaire distributed to horsemen, breeders, newspapermen, and others interested, asks whether the recipient favors the stall gate or barrier method. If the voter chooses the barrier, he is requested to say whether he prefers the Australian six-strand ropestype or the American single-strand webbing.

Unprejudiced observers can cast their ballots only one way—for Australian six-strand barrier now utilized practically everywhere but in this country.

It should become universal if for no other reason than that it does away with the fist-fooled break and the resultant tremendous strain on leg muscles and tendons of horses, due to the jarring or leap in leaving the gate. This form of start breaks more thoroughbreds down than almost any other cause. Horses also burn their sides entering and leaving the stalls and become contrary.

The Australian, or Reuben G. Gray, system has been given little opportunity to prove its value as an adjunct to American race track equipment.

It was given a whirl on the Widener chute at Belmont Park eight years ago, but improper operation caused an accident when the riders charged too quickly, and the barrier was cast aside. At Hialiah a year ago and at Belmont Park last spring it was restricted to juveniles.

UNWILLING TO SCHOOL HORSES

Naturally, supporters of the Australian contraption contend that if older horses with season-ed riders were schooled to the new task, the barrier would prove its value. That has been the case elsewhere.

The truth is that most starters and trainers are unwilling to go to the extra trouble of schooling horses and jockeys to something new. There frequently is an unfavorable reaction to something new. It takes time to establish new ideas.

What little trial the Australian barrier has been given in this country to date has been more in the nature of a publicity stunt than anything else.

In addition to its other faults, horses fear the partitions of confinement within the partitions of a stall gate. Time is lost forcing contrary animals into position. It has become necessary to employ more assistant starters, nearly every horse needing assistance to enter the stall, and to be retained therein.

Occasionally, horses are injured in being forced in stalls, particularly when they are forced to back in.

It was considered unusual for a starter to obtain all moving starts from a barrier for a great length of time, but employing the old single-strand webbing in New Orleans many years ago, the late Mars Cassidy started an entire meeting with moving starts.

CANT BEAT BARRIERS

One of the principal faults of the single-strand webbing, however, was that fields usually had to be brought to a standing start in order to prevent riders from breaking through it.

One of the chief assets of the strong Australian device is that no horse can beat the barrier.

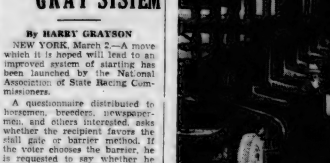

It most certainly makes moving starts possible.

There is no handling of horses by assistant starters.

FLAT-FOOTED BREAKS MEAN BREAKDOWNS

Above, a field breaks from the stall gate. Left, juveniles are schooled at the Australian six-strand rope barrier. Right, a field is on its toes as the American single-strand webbing barrier is sprung.

Manitoba Favorite To Capture Brier; Crucial Tilt Today

Dominion Curling Championship Almost Certain to Come West Again—Manahan and Finlay Tied in Second Place

(Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin)

TORONTO, March 2.—Edmonton's Cliff Manahan, defending the Macdonald Brier tankard that he lifted last year, went down to his first defeat here Tuesday when he lost against Ab Gowanlock's powerful Manitobans 13-7 in the afternoon draw. He came back however to defeat Bert Hall's Ontario outfit 8-5 in the evening match.

Gowanlock was the only unbeaten skip at the end of Tuesday's play. He had stretched his victories to five. Billy Finlay's strong British Columbians also bit the dust during the day, falling before Dr. Humphries of Saskatchewan by a 13-10 count. Finlay and Manahan are now tied for second place with four wins and one loss each.

Unless the western rinks suddenly break their legs, the Brier is almost certain to go west again. The game that is expected to do much to finally decide which of the western provinces cop the award is scheduled for this afternoon when Manitoba tangles with British Columbia. If Finlay can stop the Gowanlock squad, the race will be opened up again. However, Finlay is the last tough hurdler facing the Manitoba aces and if they take it in their stride there seems little chance of them failing to take the coveted championship.

Manahan went down to defeat, but not before a struggle that ere-saved until the 10th end. From there the Manitoban definitely were superior and won 13-7 British Columbia won their fourth straight 16-5 over Quebec and other fourth-round results were: Northern Ontario 11, Prince Edward Island 8; Nova Scotia 12, Saskatchewan 10 and New Brunswick 15, Ontario 12.

These were the first victories of the spiel for the Maritimers and at the same time the easts first triumph in international competition against the western sweepers. The results left only Quebec and the Islanders winless.

BITTER BATTLE

Sternest struggle of the day was fought between Gowanlock and Bert Hall's Kitchener stars in the earlier third. Forced to an extra end, after Hall tied the game on the 12th, Manitoba finally won 9-7 while Alberta and Nova Scotia 12-8 and British Columbia kept pace by whipping F. R. McLaine's Charlotte town crew, 11-7.

Saskatchewan and Northern Ontario also fell through the third round safely. Dr. M. J. Humphries' Prince Albert four beating Quebec 16-8 and J. R. Walker's northern rink from Timmins defeating New Brunswick 10-8. These results left the Manitoba-Alberta duel in the full afternoon spotlight.

Playing on the Granite club's "centre ice," the veteran western masters duelled evenly the full 10 the end of nine ends they were tied 9-9. Until then they played "hit and lie" and when they gambled with the draw game, traditionally an eastern feature, Manahan was outclassed.

On the 10th end Gowanlock raised out an Alberta stone lying between two of his own and he did it so neatly, four Manitoba rocks were alone in the counting circles after the shot. It was merely routine for Gowanlock to protect that

At a meeting of the Westmount Community League girls' softball teams last night it was decided to enter a junior and senior team again this season in an effort to retain the championship captured last year. These were the senior and junior softball championship trophies and the North Edmonton tournament cup. About 30 enthusiastic supporters attended the meeting.

The meeting made tentative plans for holding a banquet at the Corona hotel near the end of March at which the trophies won last season will be officially presented to the teams. Fr. Bedford, Marion Mc-Connell and Marion Currie will accept the cups for the teams. Crests will be secured for each member of the club.

Mossfeldt Returns On Mat Card Featured By Meehan

OSCAR MOSSFELDT, with the suspension plastered on him by the wrestling commission finally lifted, gets into ring warfare again this week as he goes after Emile Van Velzen in a preliminary bout at the Memorial Hall, Friday night. Oscar earned the wrath of the fight Dons because of his rough and dirty tactics in the ring and now he's back again not a bit changed except that his temper is worse.

The opening bout presents another pair of tricky middleweights, with Larry Jacobsen and Mickey Martin preparing to take life and limb as they hurl themselves about the ring in flying scissors, headlocks and most anything else. There may even be a few flying chairs if Mickey gets his dander up.

That wild Irish grappler Pat Meehan will have lots of trouble trying to down Dave Johnson Friday night in the main event, for the heavyweight from Portland is still undefeated since coming to Edmonton. The burly wrestler knows all the dirty tricks and can even think up a few new ones in a pinch. Pat however showed just what he could do last Friday, when he kicked the terrible Maloney into helplessness to win his match. The fourth bout will see friend Maloney tackle in another heavyweight fixture. The beefy maulers will really have to be on their toes to outshine the middleweights, and how they hate to be shown up by the little fellows.

King Edward Park Battles McCauley

Tonight at the Varsity Rink, King Edward Park, winners of the south section, will play McCauley, winners of the north section, for the city championship in the Community Hockey League senior division. The game will start at 9.00 p.m.

AMERKS WIN WAY TO WITHIN POINT OF PLAYOFFS

Dutton Doughboys Rake In 4-2 Payoff Against Canadiens

NEW YORK, March 2.—New York Americans all but sewed up a National hockey league playoff berth last night as they defeated Montreal Canadiens 4-2 to move to within three points of the second-place Habitants.

The victory, on a third period scoring burst that netted three goals, left Americans where they need only a single point to clinch a spot in the playoffs over Montreal Maroons.

Before a crowd of 6,000, Amerks took an early lead and, after Canadiens had tied it up, went out and bagged the winners with a powerful last-period drive.

George Manlua, fleet Montreal winger, scored both Canadiens' goals. His first came early in the second, to match Hooley Smith's first-period counter.

Before he netted the second late in the third period, Lorne Carr, Sweeney Schriner and Johnny Sorrell had scored in order for the New Yorkers.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—Americans, Smith (Sorrell), 7:12. Penalties, Carr.

Second Period: 2—Canadiens, Manlua (Brown, Goupille), 1:01. Penalties, none.

Third Period: 3—Americans, Carr (Chapman) 5:37; 4—Americans, Schriner (Sorrell), 17:09; 5—Americans, Smith (Beattie), 16:26; 6—Canadiens, Manlua (Brown, Lorain), 17:32. Penalty—Blake.

Leafs Halt Slump; Beat Maroons, 5-3

MONTREAL, March 2.—Toronto Maple Leafs broke from a slump last night to defeat Montreal Maroons 5-3 and strengthen their leadership in the drive down the National hockey league stretch.

Jimmy Fowler's goal less than three minutes from the finish was the winning stroke in a wide open —if loosely played—contest that left Maroons within a step of losing all mathematical chance at the playoffs. Twenty seconds later George Parsons sped in to sink the fifth Leaf score and definitely stop a Maroon team that had led 2-0 in the first period.

Jimmy Ward shot Maroons into their early two-goal lead but 20 seconds after his second score Syl Apps reduced the lead to 2-1 and then laid down a pass to Gordon Drillon for the tying goal a minute after the second period's start.

Halfway through the second Nick Metz put Leafs ahead for the first time but Maroons drew level again in the third on Allan Shield's goal.

SUMMARY

First Period: 1—Maroons, Ward (Evans, Trottier), 9:37. 2—Maroons, Ward (Shannon, Trottier), 12:38; 3—Toronto, Apps (Horner, Drillon), 14:17. Penalty, Wentworth.

Second Period: 4—Toronto, Drillon (Apps), 1:27; 5—Toronto, Metz (Parsons), 3:36. Penalties, none.

Third Period: 6—Maroons, Shields (Gracie, Cain), 6:47; 7—Toronto, Fowler (Thomas, Jackson), 13:18; 8—Toronto, Parsons (Kelly, Metz), 17:29. Penalties, none.

Bruins Play Ninth Undefeated Battle

BOSTON, March 2.—Stretching their undefeated run to nine games, Boston Bruins smothered Detroit Red Wings' latest playoff bid with a 6-1 win last night after a four-goal offensive in the last period of their National hockey league contest.

Red Wings held the Bruins under control for 35 minutes, only to crack wide open before a 10,000 crowd.

The Wings, eager to escape the American division cellar, counted at the eighth minute of second period play. Hec Kilrea fired a hopping drive from the Boston blue line and Goalie Tiny Thompson juggled the puck into his cage.

Little Bobby Bauer, who scored twice, deadlocked the game about seven minutes later. Clooney Weiland's tally put the Bruins out in front during the last minute of the middle session.

The Wings took many wild gambles during the third period, when Dit Clapper, Bauer, Art Jackson and Pettinger piled on the score for the Bruins.

Rebel Eyes On Gibraltar Soon

LONDON, March 2—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty in the former Labor government, asked in the House of Commons Tuesday about unconfirmed reports that the Spanish insurgent southern leader, General Gonzalo Queipo De Llano, had charged Gibraltar had been stolen from Spain and would be recovered.

Prime Minister Chamberlain replied he was seeking an official report and would "consider what importance should be attached to these statements."

lead, though Alberta counted a single before Manitoba's curlers closed out with a three-end.

While Gowanlock was meeting the toughest competition in the bonspiel, Finlay's Vancouver four brushed past the youthful crew of Skip R. C. Cream with a minimum of trouble. The British Columbians started slowly, being held 2-2 at three ends.

But their sights were in direct line on the fourth and fifth ends and both times they counted four. On these ends they scattered their rocks and the Quebeckers' erratic runners lost the day. In contrast the British Columbia four were in top form with knockout shots.

The Nova Scotia and New Brunswick victories were distinct upsets. Dr. Humphries made the mistake of attempting to match the Nova Scotians at their drawing game after abandoning an early six-point lead. Skip C. W. Durrant caught up with the westerners at the eighth end and never was headed.

DURRANT STARS

Humphries had a chance to catch the Scotians on the last end and only fine curling by Durrant saved the game. The westerners were lying three but Durrant moved two stones out with his first shot and did the same thing with his second to count one after Humphries drew in to lay shot with his last rock.

D. P. Connolly's New Brunswick curlers from Bathurst provided Manitoba with unexpected stern opposition and led the favorites 6-2 after seven ends in the evening draw. But from there Gowanlock was supreme, curling with all the skill that has made him the master in Manitoba.

He knocked off successive 2's on the eighth and ninth ends, once he knocked out the shot New Brunswick stone and once when Connolly was heavy with his last shot. The Manitobans finished off with a four on the 11th.

HUMPHRIES TOO GOOD

Upset by Nova Scotia in the fourth round, Saskatchewan was not figured to beat Finlay's Columbians And Finlay, Coast skip of the Vancouver Sun, had the game well in hand until disaster and Dr. Humphries' skill overtook his rink on the 10th end.

Ahead there 9-7, British Columbia's lead was wiped out when Saskatchewan registered a five. Saskatchewan was lying four with three "biters" on the outside ring when Skip Finlay failed in an attempt to knock out the centre rock and lie in for one. Dr. Humphries put his last stone in position easily.

MAPLE LEAFS SOUNDLY DRUB FORTS BY 15-2

The Maple Leaf Athletic Club entry in the provincial juvenile hockey race swept into the Northern Alberta finals last night by trouncing the Fort Saskatchewan sextet 15-2 at the Arena. So convincing was their win that officials deemed a second game unnecessary. The Maple Leaf team will meet Edson juveniles in the northern finals.

Alberi Newson, starry Leaf forward, although he was not the scorer he blazed it past the Fort goalie for six tallies and zipped across passes for five more. Dave Hare snagged five goals during the course of the evening, while Walter Duchuk and Dave McAra added two each. Stan Devik scored one goal for the Fort Saskatchewan club in the first period and another in the third. The Maple Leaf team was never in danger, leading 6-1 in the opening canto, increased their lead by five goals in the second and finished with a 15-2 margin.

JUNIOR GOLFERS TO COMPETE FOR NATIONAL CROWN

TORONTO, March 2.—The Royal Canadian Golf Association announced Tuesday night the first National Junior championship would be played at the London (Ont.) Hunt Club July 25, the second day as the Willingdon cup interprovincial match.

One junior from each province will be entitled to play for a trophy donated by Charles H. Sclater of Hamilton, who also has offered to advance the total expenses of the juniors who participate.

To preserve the amateur status of the juniors, who must be under 20 years, each provincial representative will be a fifth member of the Willingdon cup team from his province. All his expenses will be paid by the R.C.G.A. through its arrangement with Mr. Sclater.

The juniors also will be eligible to play in the Canadian amateur championship which opens at the London Hunt club July 26.

Vancouver Plans Control Orientals

VANCOUVER, March 2.—Alderman H. D. Wilson Monday asked the city council to adopt a resolution intended to give the civic license committee a great measure of control over licenses of trade licenses to Orientals. The resolution would provide for filing of particulars of new license applications each week, thus giving the licensing committee of the council an opportunity to exercise more control over issuance of licenses.

Alberta Jock Gets Seabiscuit Mount In 100-Grand Race

LOS ANGELES, March 2.—Seabiscuit got a new rider today and it stopped raining, all of which brought new twists to pre-race arguments over the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap Saturday.

Veteran Georgie Woolf, who hooted Azucar and himself into fame by winning the first '100 Grand' at Santa Anita in 1935, was named to pilot Seabiscuit in the big race.

Woolf, a money rider from Cardston, Alta., replaced Sonny Workman, who rode the mighty 'Biscuit last Saturday and lost to Anerold. The jockey switching was necessitated when Charles S. Howard's regular rider, Jack (Red) Pollard of Edmonton, was hurt in a spill 10 days ago.

TRAINER RAPS SONNY

Owner Howard apparently thought Workman gave Seabiscuit a good ride considering the horse hadn't raced in three months, but Tom Smith, the trainer, thought otherwise.

"I suppose Workman will be pretty sore about this, but he's no loser than I was after the way he bungled with Seabiscuit Saturday," Smith said.

While many railbirds thought Workman performed well, Smith blamed him for not giving Seabiscuit the whip as Seabiscuit rushed down the stretch a neck or so back of Anerold, and for getting peeved at the start.

Whether Woolf can handle Seabiscuit as well or better on his first ride aboard the California-owned express remains to be seen.

A fast track may bring some scratches from among the 22 horses scheduled to face the barrier Saturday, but all those, including Azucar Brujo, the Uruguayan entry, and Count Atlas, He Did, Today and Wise Fellow, are renowned "scratchers."

But sunshine over the Santa Anita oval will be all to the merry for the dual Canadian entry of Major A. C. Taylor of Vancouver.

BREAK FOR TAYLOR

His horses, the gangling Indian Broom and Whitecrest, are "dual track" racers. The handicappers have given increased consideration to Indian Broom's chances since last Saturday when the chestnut raced third in the San Anonito handicap, behind Seabiscuit.

Nick Wall, one of the most successful jockeys during the current race meeting at Hialeah Park, will have the mount on Blagchard.

Wall can make 100 pounds without sweat which is Stagehand's assignment for the big race. Jack Westrope, who rode Stagehand in the Derby, will be aboard the stablemate entry, Screenshifter. He is 5 pounds heavy for the lighter weight.

LOYAL PRINCE OUT

LONDON, March 2—A. Smith-Bingham's Loyal Prince (Tuesday) was withdrawn from the Grand National steeplechase to be run at Aintree, March 25, reducing the field to 45.

"BE SYMPATHETIC" SAYS DALE CARNEGIE
Author of the famous book HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE

"There is a magic phrase that stops arguments, ends ill feeling, creates goodwill and turns enemies into friends. "Here it is: 'I don't blame you one bit for feeling as you do. If I were you, I should undoubtedly feel just the same!'"

"So try to understand the other person. Try to be sympathetic. Three-fourths of the people you meet are thirsting for sympathy.

"Give it to them. Give it to all of them—even to the most bigoted, unreasoning and antagonistic among them. 'Love your enemies'."

"What a pleasant place this old world will become when we all learn that simple secret!

"So remember, put yourself in the other person's place . . . show sympathy and be more understanding—and watch the magic work!"

HAVE YOU SMOKED A TURRET LATELY?

UNDERSTANDING and goodwill can easily be expressed in deeds as well as in words. In such a small thing as the offer of a Turret cigarette, for instance, which is equivalent to saying: "I want you to share with me the pleasure of smoking a very fine cigarette—my favourite." For Turrets are superlatively good cigarettes, made from the finest Virginia tobaccos, in an original and unique blend. As an added convenience to you, there is a handy calendar on every package. If you haven't smoked a Turret lately, try a package today.

Mount Loses Head

BETHESDA, Wales, March 2 — Mount Snowdon, Wales' highest mountain, is in danger of losing its title. Storms of the past few years have shorn off much of its loose rocky summit and now Carnedd Llewelyn, 3,484 feet, is only a few feet short of Snowdon's height.

Purchase of a $20,000 mercury-arc rectifier to reduce power losses on the Calder section of the street railway system is being made by the city, Commissioner Robert J. Gibb reported Wednesday. It was stated installation of this equipment at 124 street and 107 avenue would mean an annual saving of 18 per cent, or $3,000 on the investment.

APPROPRIATION GRAIN OVERAGES DRAWS PROTEST

Protesting enactment of the bill now before the legislature providing for the appropriation of grain overages at country elevators, a delegation representing the Alberta Wheat Pool, the United Grain Growers and North West Grain Dealers interviewed Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture on Wednesday.

Submitting their representations to the cabinet members of the delegation contended that the bill now before the legislature as it is drafted, conflicts in many ways with regulations of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

The bill respecting overages enables the government to take all grain left in elevators after the original amount weighed in by farmers, has been weighed out for shipment to terminal elevators.

It was contended by the delegation that the sections of the bill which permitted the taking by the government, of overage, conflicted with the deductions allowed for shrinkage in country elevators, under Board of Grain Commissioners regulations.

Mr. Mullen promised to give consideration to the submissions.

Included in the delegation were J. E. Brownlee, K.C., Lew Hutchinson and R. D. Purdy, representing the Alberta Wheat Pool; R. S. Law, representing the United Grain Growers and E. Rostad, representing the North West Grain Dealers.

Vivian Walters Carnival Queen At Scona Centre

Despite the rather unfavorable weather, a large crowd attended the fifth annual carnival of the Scona Centre Community League, Tuesday evening, when charming blonde Vivian Walters was royally crowned queen of the community. She was attended by Josephine Davies, Kay Heaton, Isabel Wike, and Mary Lavet. George Campbell performed the coronation ceremony.

Another highlight of the evening was the graceful and intricate display of fancy skating given by four junior members of the Glenora Skating Club. A fancy dress parade and grand march followed the races.

In charge of arrangements were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ortner, A. E. Roxborough, president of the league, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ingland, E. Leitch, H. P. Gallimore.

Storage Room At Rear Of Hotel Is Damaged By Fire

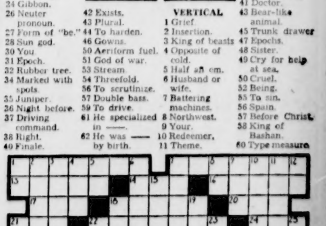

Fire of undetermined origin broke out in a storage room at the rear of the Queen's hotel on Jasper avenue east shortly after noon Wednesday.

Firemen from No. 2 detail, directed by Fire Chief A. Dutton extinguished the blaze before appreciable damage was done. Occupants of the hotel were unaware of the blaze until the fire engines, answering the alarm, arrived, and drew up in front of the building. The firemen used one line of hose and a can of chemicals to extinguish the blaze which started in a pile of rubbish.

Three Princesses Seek Mates

Princesses Myrcheo, Maxhide and Ruhile (left to right, above), unmarried sisters of King Zog of Albania, are shown as they prepared for a visit to the United States. Their program is reported to include cultural investigation into American manners and customs; a diplomatic mission to secure the return from his Boston exile of Premier Bishop Fan Noli, fugitive since their brother's seizure of power; and a quest for romance, which may end in the marriage of the girls to husbands with a dowry.

JAPS MOVE TO STRIKE CHINESE REDS' POSITION

SHANGHAI, March 2—Japanese driving forward almost without opposition at the western end of the Lunghai battle front indicated today they would strike next at Shansi province, Communist strong hold.

With a Chinese army of 100,000 fleeing before them in Southern Shansi province, leaving them in control of virtually all of the vast area to the north and east of the Yellow River, the Japanese turned their attention to the province to the westward.

In Shanghai, tension developed when a Japanese sentry shot and killed a fleeing Chinese within the British sector of the international settlement. British authorities and their own sentries were endangered.

Blood Alley Scene Fierce Sailor Melee

SHANGHAI, March 2—Shanghai's famous "Blood Alley" lived up to its reputation last night as 300 French and Italian sailors fought a pitched free-for-all in and out of its gilded cabarets.

"Blood Alley" is a short street in the foreign-controlled section lined with cabarets and cafes frequented by sailors.

The fight started over the rival affections of two sailors and a Russian taxi dancer. It ended in a melee in which bananas, knives and chairs were thrown and fists used freely. Five sailors, one with an ear cut off, were removed to hospital before police restored order.

Of the 2,000 known kinds of bacteria and germs, only about 150 are believed to be harmful. The other 1,850 varieties are necessary to life in one way or another.

King Zog's Sisters Shrug Their Shapely Shoulders at Love

By ELIZABETH PLUMMER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 2—Three royal princesses of Albania who look like the pretty stars of a Graustarkian light opera shrugged their slim shoulders at romance and frivolity today and started with serious mien to see America.

Girl Scouts, up-to-date cities, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Yellowstone Park were what appealed to Myseyen, Maxhide and Ruhie, sisters of King Zog, ruler of the tiny kingdom in the Balkans.

They like silk stockings and lipstick, permanent waves, and short skirts, but night clubs—no, and the mention of swing music failed to elicit much warmth. The princesses, all in their 20's, chose to spend their first evening in New York with a quiet dinner in the royal suite at a midtown hotel.

"There is no motive on our trip, except a friendly curiosity. We are tourists on vacation," they said, but there was a gleam of merriment in their eyes.

They stood in a line, in one of their two living rooms at the hotel suite formerly occupied by the Grand Duke Alexander of Russia and the Prince of Monaco, and gave the military salute of Albania — a sweep of the right arm and hand across the chest, palm downward, looking as if they might suddenly sing the Gilbert and Sullivan air:

"Three little maids from school are we.
"Filled to the brim with girlish glee."

Funeral Is Held For Scalded Child

GLEICHEN, Alta., March 2—The three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Schwoer of Gleichen, fatally scalded when she fell into a tub of boiling water, will be buried here today. The child died in Calgary Sunday, 24 hours after admittance to hospital.

Volcanic dust remains in suspension in the upper atmosphere for years.

CRACK CAVALRY ORDERED OUT TO CRUSH TROOPS

HENDAYE, France, March 2—Colonel Iluarte Monasterio, commander of Spanish insurgent troops on the Teruel front, Tuesday sent crack Navarrese cavalry units into the hills with orders to crush bands of government soldiers threatening insurgent positions on the road to Galeucus.

The insurgent cavalry yesterday occupied the village of Aldehuela southeast of the Teruel.

MADRID, March 2—The government had issued a new draft order which is expected to increase its army from an estimated 650,000 to 750,000. The new order calls out the 19-year-old and the 30-year-old classes. All classes between 19 and 30 previously had been brought into service.

Ickes Boosts Seattle-Alaska Highway Plan

WASHINGTON, March 2—A proposed Seattle to Fairbanks, Alaska highway, received a boost Tuesday from Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior.

"I would like to drive to Alaska before my term of office is complete," he told his press conference.

The interior secretary said he was "hopeful" United States and Canada would agree soon on plans for the highway.

JUDGE DEATH TIES UP PAIR OF VERDICTS

British Columbia Appeal Bench Unable to Deliver Judgments

VANCOUVER, March 2—Chief Justice Archer Martin Tuesday announced the British Columbia court of appeal would be unable to give judgment on two appeals if two surviving judges who heard the arguments were to disagree.

The situation arose out of the recent death of Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips. Justice McPhillips, with the chief justice and Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan, heard the appeals, both involving Vancouver suits.

WOULD REST

The chief justice told counsel that the cases would have to rest until counsel decided what procedure to follow. He did not suggest what course they might take.

It was understood in legal circles they could decide to accept the judgment of the surviving judges if they agreed, or decide to re-argue the cases.

HAD INDICATED

The chief justice said Mr. Justice McPhillips had "indicated the trend of his mind" before his death, but the court did not feel he had given sufficient indication for it to proceed upon.

In a similar case 30 years ago in British Columbia, a judge who died had so clearly indicated his decision that the remaining judges were able to reach a decision.

Judge Feels Parker Has Good Reason

BELLINGHAM, Wash., March 2—Clyde Anable won his own case in police court Tuesday afternoon. Charged with overtime parking, Magistrate John P. McGilvra asked in the routine way:

"Have you anything to say in your own defence?"

"My wife was having a baby," Anable explained.

"Were you ever charged before for overtime parking?"

"Yes," said Anable, "about three years ago."

"What delayed you that time?"

"My wife was having a baby."

"Good afternoon," Judge McGilvra said. "See you again in about three years."

ALBERTA'S OIL YIELD IS HIGH UP IN MILLIONS

CALGARY, March 2—Since the first well went into operation in 1914 until the end of 1937 the Turner Valley oil field has produced crude and naphtha products valued at $55,000,000 and in addition has had a gas output which sold for $17,000,000.

This information is contained in a report issued by the Alberta department of lands and mines.

Alberta's oil production last year had a market value of $4,913,960 compared with $2,813,442 in 1936, and $2,500,000 in 1935.

Of the 1937 production, 98 per cent was obtained in the Turner Valley field.

WHALES SLAP STEEL VESSELS, BENDING PLATES

VICTORIA, March 2. — Mute evidence of the "kick" a whale packs in its huge tail was seen Tuesday as two whaling vessels of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation were hauled on the ways for repairs. The William Grant established three badly bent plates, and The Blue showed a bent propeller shaft. Both were damaged by lashing whales.

Cod Fishermen Get 1,000-Pound Shark In Sound

VANCOUVER, March 2 — Oscar Gloverland and Tom Sandis Tuesday caught a 1,000-pound mud shark while fishing for cod on Hawe Sound, Howe Sound Bay, 12 miles north of here. The shark was held so long as the boat from which the two men were fishing

C.C.F. Council May Meet In Edmonton Soon

CALGARY, March 2 — Arrangements were being made Tuesday for a meeting of provincial council of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, probably in Edmonton, late this month.

Council members plan to discuss plans for the forthcoming annual provincial convention of C.C.F. clubs and proposals for extending the movement in Alberta.

Thieves Captured

VANCOUVER, March 2—Duncan Scanlon and Alex McKenzie were captured by police Tuesday and charged with theft of jewelry from a downtown window store following a chase during which police fired two shots at the fleeing men.

If the hydrogen in a teaspoonful of water is converted into helium, about 100,000 kilowatt hours of energy, or $10,000 worth of commercial current, is set free.
